Administration Won't Act To Curb Construction Pay

WASHINGTON (AP) — Construction industry pleads that President Nixon act to curb union wage increase demands of up to 50 per cent and sometimes more are getting little encouragement from the White House.

Acknowledging the steep wage-price spiral is contributing to skyrocketing building costs, the President's Council of Economic Advisors still promised only to keep a close eye on the situation.

"The construction industry's size alone, about 14 per cent of the Gross National Product and more than 6 per cent of total employment, makes its influence in the economy a major one, and the present rapid rise in both prices and wages in the industry is a matter to which we are giving close attention," said Council Chairman Paul McCracken.

McCracken's response gave little comfort to Carl M. Halvorson, president of the Associated General Contractors of America, who had asked Nixon to step in with temporary compulsory wage settlements until the spiral slows.

"Because of the over-powering strength of the unions," Halvorson said, "there will be some bad settlements—bad for the country as well as for the contractors—unless the administration and the public speak out and give the industry some definite support in its opposition to those inflationary wage settlements."

The kind of wage settlements Halvorson and other industry officials are complaining about is illustrated by a recent new contract in Philadelphia which will boost pay for 2,000 union plumbers from $6 to $9.25 per hour within two years, a hike of more than 25 per cent a year.

However, Labor Department figures show such whopping wage increases have not yet become the rule among the nation's approximately 4 million construction workers.

The latest government figures placed the average wage increase for building trades workers at a relatively modest annual rate of 4 per cent a year. The average for all construction workers stood at $5.32 per hour, not including fringe benefits.

Construction wages over the past year increased 7.6 per cent, only slightly above the annual rise for all industry, the report added.

Union officials defend high wages for construction men on grounds that the work is highly seasonal with long layoffs in bad weather.

What industry officials fear is a nationwide pattern growing out of the larger settlements such as the Philadelphia plumbers.

"Wilmington, Del., millwrights are striking for a $228 weekly wage increase in two years; Eastern Massachusetts carpenters are striking for $126 weekly wage increase in two years; Eastern Massachusetts are striking for a $164.80 weekly wage increase in two years," Halvorson said.

Keaton Sanity Appeal Dismissed

Cleo Vernon Keaton, convicted in Pickaway County of the first degree murder of a Williamsport man, has lost another round in his efforts to stay out of Ohio's electric chair.

The Franklin County Court of Appeals dismissed Thursday an appeal of a finding that Keaton is "not insane."

Keaton, 31, Dayton, is currently scheduled to die in the electric chair June 20, for the 1960 shooting of Maurice Francis of Williamsport.

He had received a sanity hearing before Common Pleas Court Judge Myron Gessaman earlier this year after the warden of the state penitentiary said that he appeared to be insane.

Judge Gessaman ruled that, although Keaton is probably mentally ill, he is not insane according to Ohio law.

Judge Robert Leach, writing the appeal court's decision, stated that Keaton had no right to appeal Judge Gessaman's findings. He said Keaton's recourse was a request to the governor for executive clemency.

The court also ruled that the warden could ask the governor to intervene in Keaton's behalf. Under Ohio law the test of sanity, according to Judge Leach, seems to be whether the defendant has sufficient intelligence to understand the nature of the proceeding against him, why he is being tried, purpose of the punishment, his impending fate and a sufficient understanding to know any fact which might exist which would make his punishment unjust or unlawful.

Keaton, although probably seriously mentally ill, could not be considered insane under that definition, Leach stated.

Firebombings Hit Akron Overnight

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Sixteen fires in predominantly Negro and racially mixed neighborhoods kept Akron firemen busy Thursday night and early today, and firemen laid the blame on firebombings by teen-agers.

Damage was not expected to exceed $200, fire officials said. The largest of the fires was at an abandoned warehouse on Silver Street, near North Howard Street. Eight pieces of fire equipment responded because the building was near the Farley Chemical and Solvent Co.

Firemen also said they believe the $150,000 fire at the Merryweather Foam Latex Co. plant on North Howard Street Wednesday night was caused by young teen-agers. Police said people living in the vicinity said they saw youngsters running from the building about the time the fire started. Fire officials said firebombs were thrown at the front and back of the building.

There were six firebombings in Akron's inner city area Wednesday night. No serious damage was reported at the other five locations.

Gromyko Tells Arab Leaders Of Peace Plan

Assures Them Soviets Support Their Stand

CAIRO (AP) — Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko has assured President Gamal Abdel Nasser the Soviet Union won't agree to any settlement in the Middle East the Arabs won't accept, the semi-official newspaper Al-Ahram reported today.

The Soviet minister also pledged continued support for the Arab demand for Israeli withdrawal from all territories occupied in the June 1967 war, the paper said.

Al-Ahram's report was the first significant report locally of Gromyko's activities since he arrived Tuesday to talk with Nasser.

Gromyko is believed to be sounding out Nasser on a package deal reportedly proposed by U.S. officials at the Big Four talks in New York and in talks with Soviet officials in Washington.

Some reports say the U.S. proposal includes territorial concessions to Israel including the Arab quarter of Jerusalem and Syria's Golan Heights. Al-Ahram said any such concessions would be rejected out of hand. However, the Soviet Union and the Arabs are expected to abandon their earlier conception of a "phased settlement"—Israeli withdrawal first and then the Arabs would make

Uncommitted ABM Solon Likes Delay

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senator whose uncommitted stance on the Safeguard controversy makes him a key figure in the fate of the program, says he is impressed with a compromise proposal to delay ABM deployment while allowing work to continue on other parts of the missile defense project.

Sen. Howard M. Cannon, D-Nev., said in an interview that "When I make up my mind, this could be something I would lead to."

"I am impressed by it," he added about the plan aimed at heading off what now appears to be a near deadlock over President Nixon's proposal to build missile defense sites in Montana and North Dakota.

Cannon is one of a half-dozen senators, who according to the latest Associated Press poll, haven't made up their minds on the Safeguard project.

Despite administration insistence it has no plans to yield, attention is going to the proposal by Sens. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., and Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass., to delay deployment but continue work on site radar and computers.

But some ABM foes say it isn't really a compromise. "Calling something by another name doesn't change it," one opponent said, adding that any kind of deployment at the two sites would be a step toward Safeguard and no compromise.

Nixon Nominates Gen. Ryan Next Air Force Staff Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon's first appointment to the Joint Chiefs of Staff is Air Force Gen. John D. Ryan, a strong advocate of an advanced bomber force in a time when nuclear missiles are considered the nation's main strategic weapon system.

Nixon announced the appointment Thursday of the 53-year-old Ryan, former head of the Strategic Air Command, to succeed retiring Gen. John Paul McConnell on the Joint Chiefs. Barring unexpected resistance in the Senate, Ryan should become Air Force chief sometime in August.

A World War II bomber pilot with 58 missions over Europe, Ryan will be the first new face on the Joint Chiefs of Staff since Nixon took office.

The President Thursday also: Went through with a previously announced decision to extend Army Gen. Earle G. Wheeler for a record sixth year as chairman of the Joint Chiefs. —Nominated Adm. Thomas H. Moorer for another two years as chief of Naval Operations, bringing his term in line with a recent law specifying standard four-year tours for members of the JCS.

Since becoming vice chief of staff last August, Ryan has shunned publicity because, as one associate put it, "The chief of staff does the speaking while the vice chief stays home and runs the store."

Officers close to Ryan say he is a firm believer in maintaining a mixed force of bombers and missiles as the backbone of the nation's deterrent striking power, and that he strongly supports a proposal to build an entirely new Advanced Manned Strategic Aircraft for the Air Force in the 1970s and beyond.

The third straight Air Force chief with a SAC background, Ryan is known as "Three Finger Jack" because of a World War II wound. He has made no effort to build a public image—a quality which fits in with the general tone of present-day military chiefs, who are known mostly as managers.

Ryan's elevation leaves an opening in the vice chief's slot. The two leading possibilities are Gen. James H. Doolittle, commander of the Air Force Systems Command at Andrews Air Force, Md., and Gen. Jack Merrill, chief of the Air Force logistics command, Wright Patterson AFB, Ohio.

Hickel To Seek Congress' OK To Alaska Oil Pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressmen who approved Walter J. Hickel's confirmation as Interior secretary after he promised to "freeze" the status of federal land in Alaska will soon be asked for enough of a thaw to permit an 800-mile oil pipeline across the state.

The Interior Department says it intends to grant a right-of-way permit for the pipeline to three oil companies once the interior committees of the Senate and the House agree.

Harrison Loesch, assistant secretary for public land management, said in an interview: "It's policy that the permit will be granted when all the conditions are met."

A condition not yet met is the committee's approval, a provision set down in January when the Senate confirmed the controversial appointment of Hickel, then governor of Alaska, as secretary of the Interior.

Hickel promised Senate Interior Committee Chairman Henry Jackson, D-Wash., that he would continue a "freeze" for two years on the status of the federal lands, which make up 90 per cent of Alaska, to allow time for a settlement of native land claims.

Jackson said then a right-of-way would come under Hickel's "freeze" pledge, but exceptions would be allowed for important public purposes.

Loesch said Interior officials believe a pipeline route would qualify as an exception to the land freeze.

Plans for the 800-mile, $900 million pipeline were announced last February by Trans-Alaska Pipeline System, a consortium of the Atlantic Richfield Co., Humble Oil and Refining Co. and B. P. Oil Corp. The pipeline would bring oil from the huge deposits near Prudhoe Bay on Alaska's north slope to an ice-free port at Valdez.

Trans-Alaska filed an application June 6 with the Bureau of Land Management's field offices in Alaska, seeking a 100-foot wide right-of-way the full length of the pipeline; an additional 390-mile long right-of-way 100 feet wide for a heavy duty construction road; eleven 44-acre sites for pumping stations; two airstrips, each one mile long; and extra land at river crossings.

As governor, Hickel pushed hard for development of the vast Alaska wilderness, especially the oil deposits. He fought to lift the land freeze imposed by former Interior Secretary Stewart L. Udall so Alaska could start selection of the 105 million acres to which it is entitled under the Statehood Act.

New Offensive Kept Secret Since May 25

SAIGON (AP) — Seven thousand allied troops are sweeping through the coastal plains of Central Vietnam in a drive to smash an enemy fortress only 10 miles south of Da Nang, the U.S. Command announced today.

In the three weeks since Operation Pipestone Canyon was launched, 332 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been killed, 51 taken prisoner and 152 weapons captured, military spokesmen said.

The allied force includes 4,000 U.S. Marines, 2,000 South Vietnamese infantrymen and rangers and 1,000 South Korean Marines. The operation began May 25 but announcement of it was withheld until today for security reasons, the U.S. Command said.

On the allied side, U.S. Marine losses were put at 31 killed and 240 wounded. South Vietnamese casualties were one killed and 17 wounded. South Korean losses were two killed and 13 wounded.

U.S. Marines of the 1st and 5th Regiments have done most of the fighting and reported killing more than 200 of the enemy. A Marine spokesman said the 25-square-mile area of operations—called "Dodge City" by (Continued on Page 2)

Niagara Falls Turned Off By Engineers

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Only a tiny trickle of the Niagara River now works its way to the American Falls.

The 4.5-million-gallon-a-minute water flow was all but stopped Thursday when workmen, after three days on two 11-hour shifts, dropped the last load of rock and fill into a 600-foot cofferdam that shunted the river to the Canadian Falls.

The river was shut off so Army engineers and geologists can be lowered over the falls starting next week to test the rock strata, especially the Rochester shale.

They hope to find ways of preventing further erosion that has caused huge portions of the 182-foot-high precipice to collapse.

To prevent the rock face and brink of the falls from drying out during the five-month project, a water spray will be maintained.

Water from the river will be piped through the cofferdam to the brink where it will spray through plastic pipe along the falls edge.

Meanwhile, the tourist attractions will not be forgotten.

People will be allowed to walk across the Niagara River and the famous Cave-of-the-Winds trip will be open, but at a reduced price.

The Canadian or Horseshoe Falls, 176-foot-high, still roar.

Man Charged With Slaying Of Secretary

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A 25-year-old man has been charged with the murder of a 33-year-old secretary whose partially clad body was found in a grassy field south of Grand Rapids.

This city is 125 miles northwest of Ann Arbor, the site of six slayings of young women in the last two years, the latest five days ago.

Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies handling the Ann Arbor cases came here to check the possibility of connections between the slayings.

William Moritz, 25, of Wyoming, Mich., was arraigned at midnight Thursday on a charge of murder in the death of Donna Vivemary Gehring, whose body was found earlier in the day.

Storm Causes Area Damage

Rain-lashed winds caused major damage in scattered rural areas of Pickaway County last night. The storm, which struck at 7 p.m., deposited nearly two inches of rain in parts of the county.

South Central Electric, that serves rural areas, did not have a full report of damage as workmen who were called out last night are still working today to restore service. Frankfort and surrounding Ross County areas were hardest hit by the storm, according to a South Central spokesman.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Department received a call at 8:04 p.m. when the roof was blown off a one-room school building on the Egypt Pike - Dogtown Road one-half mile south of the county line. Also trees on the school lawn were uprooted. The brick building is currently being used to store grain. The sheriff's department answered the call but did not file a report since the location placed it in Ross County jurisdiction.

Keaton Sanity Appeal Dismissed

Cleo Vernon Keaton, convicted in Pickaway County of the first degree murder of a Williamsport man, has lost another round in his efforts to stay out of Ohio's electric chair.

The Franklin County Court of Appeals dismissed Thursday an appeal of a finding that Keaton is "not insane."

Keaton, 31, Dayton, is currently scheduled to die in the electric chair June 20, for the 1960 shooting of Maurice Francis of Williamsport.

He had received a sanity hearing before Common Pleas Court Judge Myron Gessaman earlier this year after the warden of the state penitentiary said that he appeared to be insane.

Judge Gessaman ruled that, although Keaton is probably mentally ill, he is not insane according to Ohio law.

Judge Robert Leach, writing the appeal court's decision, stated that Keaton had no right to appeal Judge Gessaman's findings. He said Keaton's recourse was a request to the governor for executive clemency.

The court also ruled that the warden could ask the governor to intervene in Keaton's behalf.

Under Ohio law the test of sanity, according to Judge Leach, seems to be whether the defendant has sufficient intelligence to understand the nature of the proceeding against him, why he is being tried,

Although the civilian space agency denies that the hiring of Dr. Eugene G. Fubini marks the beginning of a new effort in spying from space by NASA, Fubini has a background in electronic intelligence gathering.

Fubini was sworn in June 5 as a consultant to the administrator of the space agency with responsibility to review and advise on "scientific and engineering aspects of the agency's programs."

In 1963, President Kennedy appointed him assistant secretary of defense and deputy director of defense research and engineering, positions he held for two years.

Early last year, The Associated Press reported that during his tenure at the Pentagon, Fubini had been head of the super-secret National Security Agency, an arm of the Defense Department with responsibility for electronic spying, code-breaking and cryptanalysis.

Zane Trace To Open In Fall; Adelphi School Is Closed

Zane Trace School will open this fall. The decision was made at a special meeting of the Zane Trace Board of Education following the defeat of a 9-mill school levy in a special election Tuesday in Ross County.

The school is without funds and according to Superintendent Everett Park, "has borrowed $81,000 from the second half of the year's funds in order to meet the payroll." He had added, following the voters' rejection of the levy, that the school would function until borrowing power was exhausted. This it will do.

The requested 9-mill levy which was defeated by a margin of five votes will appear again before district voters on the November ballot.

Two other major decisions made by school officials Wednesday night were to immediately close the Adelphi School which had been condemned by the Ohio Board of Health. There is no money to install the necessary sanitary system nor to replace the aged furnace. The Adelphi school will not reopen but the district will preserve and maintain the building for eventual use. All equipment of the building will be put to use in the school system.

The third and final major decision was to propose a "middle school" type consolidation. District teachers supported the plan to consolidate grades and age groups. All elementary students in the Zane Trace School district, grades one through four, would attend Centralia School. Kingston would house the "middle school", grades five through eight. All high school students would attend Zane Trace. This proposal would provide an alternative for Adelphi.

The deluge of teacher resignations expected by

Superintendent Park following defeat of the school levy Tuesday, has not occurred. Summer school will begin Monday in the district as planned and the school program for the September opening will be readied for operation.

Old Coins Are Stolen In Ashville

Herman Berger, Route 2, Ashville, reported to the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department that thieves broke into his house between 2 a.m. and 3 a.m. Friday, stealing about $25 in old coins.

Robert Hoover, Sheriff's Deputy, reported that when Berger returned home he noticed that the kitchen door window had been broken.

He also discovered that the house had been ransacked. Apparently Berger scared the thieves away, because a television set and radio were moved next to a door.

A storm door window and a side door window also were broken.

Boat Stolen On Darby Creek

A boat tied-up at Big Darby Creek was stolen recently, according to its owner, Andre Fontaine, Columbus.

Fontaine told Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies that he had chained the boat to a tree on the creek near State Route 104 north of Circleville. The chain had been cut and the boat was gone when he went to use it Thursday, according to the report.

The boat, a 10-foot long flatbottom was apparently floated downstream, according to Deputy Robert Hoover.

the Marines because they've had to dodge so much enemy fire there—includes extensive bunkers and fortifications that house combat and support elements of several major enemy units.

The U.S. Command also announced that American forces have killed 318 North Vietnamese soldiers in the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam since the United States halted the bombing of the North last Nov. 1.

Although most of these enemy casualties resulted from U.S. air, artillery or naval fire, the announcement was made in the wake of the report Thursday that a U.S. Marine patrol had clashed with a North Vietnamese force during what was called a routine reconnaissance patrol in the southern half of the DMZ.

Although it was the first report of U.S. ground operations in the zone in nearly three months, military sources said today a few such patrols go into the southern half of the DMZ each week.

The U.S. Command would not give the number, but a spokesman said:

"From time to time we send reconnaissance patrols into the DMZ to investigate enemy activity which poses a threat to U.S. forces. They check on what the enemy is doing and find out where he is. They gather information and report back. The term reconnaissance patrol does not visualize finding the enemy and attacking. If they are attacked, however, they've got to defend themselves and move out."

The 318 North Vietnamese reported killed in the zone all died in American attacks made in retaliation for enemy fire from inside the zone. U.S. headquarters said. A total of 14 Americans were killed and 96 wounded in these "DMZ incidents," the American command reported.

Apollo Launch Slated July 6 If Crew Is Ready

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The Apollo 11 flight has a green light for a moon landing attempt in July. The question now is: Will the crew be ready?

Neil A. Armstrong, civilian commander of the flight, and his crewmates, Air Force Col. Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Air Force Lt. Col. Michael Collins, face a heavy retraining program to prepare them fully for the scheduled July 16 blast-off.

Armstrong is scheduled to be the first to set foot on the moon July 21. He is to be joined by Aldrin 27 minutes later.

Ahead of the three are hours in mission simulations, briefings, reviews and run-throughs. They'll work for more than 12 hours on many days between now and launch in the mission simulators, familiarizing themselves with the equipment and practicing responses to possible emergencies.

"We've got a tough job getting ready," said Donald K. Slayton, chief of astronauts. "We won't need very many glitches (unexpected problems) to not be ready."

Slayton said that even a simulator "bombing out on you for two days in a row" could delay the launch.

Space officials said privately Armstrong was pushing hard to meet the launch date.

He was irritated by the slowness of some mission planners, a source said, and brought pressure for faster action.

One of the delayed blueprints was said to concern the television camera on the Apollo 11 command module, the mother ship which stays in orbit 69 miles above the moon while the lunar lander descends to the surface.

Armstrong made a formal proposal that the television camera be removed from the spaceship. His logic, a source said, was that he had received no plan for its operation and if it wasn't vital enough to have a plan, then it was unnecessary to take the camera.

"He wasn't really trying to get rid of the camera," a source said. "He was just trying to force out a plan for its use."

Armstrong got his plan in short order.

Slayton said the final decision on whether the crew is ready will rest with Armstrong. And, Slayton said, if the civilian astronaut says the crew isn't ready, "then we'll just tell them (the space program administrators) that we won't go."

Zane Trace To Open In Fall; Adelphi School Is Closed

Zane Trace School will open this fall. The decision was made at a special meeting of the Zane Trace Board of Education following the defeat of a 9-mill school levy in a special election Tuesday in Ross County.

The school is without funds and according to Superintendent Everett Park, "has borrowed $31,000 from the second half of the year's funds in order to meet the payroll." He had added, following the voters' rejection of the levy, that the school would function until borrowing power was exhausted. This it will do.

The requested 9-mill levy which was defeated by a margin of five votes will appear again before district voters on the November ballot.

Two other major decisions made by school officials Wednesday night were to immediately close the Adelphi School which had been condemned by the Ohio Board of Health. There is no money to install the necessary sanitary system nor to replace the aged furnace. The Adelphi school will not reopen but the district will preserve and maintain the building for eventual use. All equipment of the building will be put to use in the school system.

The third and final major decision was to propose a "middle school" type consolidation. District teachers supported the plan to consolidate grades and age groups. All elementary students in the Zane Trace School district, grades one through four, would attend Centralia School. Kingston would house the "middle school", grades five through eight. All high school students would attend Zane Trace. This proposal would provide an alternative for Adelphi.

The deluge of teacher resignations expected by

nounced that American forces have killed 318 North Vietnamese soldiers in the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam since the United States halted the bombing of the North last Nov. 1.

Although most of these enemy casualties resulted from U.S. air, artillery or naval fire, the announcement was made in the wake of the report Thursday that a U.S. Marine patrol had clashed with a North Vietnamese force during what was called a routine reconnaissance patrol in the southern half of the DMZ.

Although it was the first report of U.S. ground operations in the zone in nearly three months, military sources said today a few small patrols go into the southern half of the DMZ each week.

The U.S. Command would not give the number, but a spokesman said:

"From time to time we send reconnaissance patrols into the DMZ to investigate enemy activity which poses a threat to U.S. forces. They check on what the enemy is doing and find out where he is. They gather information and report back. The term reconnaissance patrol does not visualize finding the enemy and attacking. If they are attacked, however, they've got to defend themselves and move out."

The 318 North Vietnamese reported killed in the zone all died in American attacks made in retaliation for enemy fire from inside the zone. U.S. headquarters said. A total of 14 Americans were killed and 96 wounded in these "DMZ incidents," the American command reported.

Armstrong made a formal proposal that the television camera be removed from the spacecraft. His logic, a source said, was that he had received no plan for its operation and if it wasn't vital enough to have a plan, then it was unnecessary to take the camera.

"He wasn't really trying to get rid of the camera," a source said. "He was just trying to force out a plan for its use."

Armstrong got his plan in short order.

Slayton said the final decision on whether the crew is ready will rest with Armstrong. And, Slayton said, if the civilian astronaut says the crew isn't ready, "then we'll just tell them (the space program administrators) that we won't go."

Ashville News Report

Mrs. John Sabine — 983-7831

Mrs. Claude Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Chester McCain are in Dallas, Texas, this week, where they were called due to the death of Mrs. Ward's brother-in-law, Mr. Arthur "Tod" Elmore. Mr. Elmore was once a resident of Ashville.

Rev. and Mrs. William Sherertz and family and Mrs. Homer Reber are attending the United Methodist Church Conference at Lakeside this week.

Sixty-five eighth graders received promotion certificates at the commencement exercises held in the Ashville School auditorium on June 4. These students will be entering Teays Valley High School in the fall.

Mr. Orland Cooper, principal of the school served as master of ceremonies for the evening. He introduced the speaker for the evening, Mr. Charles Trone. Mr. Trone is now with the Columbus school system writing federal programs for the same. He taught in the Ashville school system several years ago.

The invocation was given by Pastor Robert Michelfelder of the First English Lutheran Church and the benediction by Rev. Franklin Beard of the First Baptist Church.

The members of the class presented a musical program under the direction of Mrs. Richard Partee. "The Impossible Dream" and "Let There Be Peace On Earth" was sung by the entire class. The Girls Chorus presented "I'll Walk With God" and "He." The boys of the class sang "America Our Heritage."

Michele Morrow presented a piano solo "Polichinello" by Rachmaninoff. Jill Trego, Pam Partee, Debbie Helsner and Kathy Trego played a clarinet quartet number, "Welsh Melody."

Mr. Cooper recognized three members of the class for outstanding scholastic records: Elmer Hines with a 4.0 average and Patricia Parsons and Susan Anderson, both with 3.8 or over averages.

Following the commencement, a reception was held for the members of the class and their families. This was followed with a dance with Jerry Rasor as guest host. The dance and reception were both sponsored by the eighth grade mothers.

Debra McManes, Brenda Moody, Michele Morrow, Bruce Osborne, Patricia Parsons, Pamela Partee, Gordon Prince, James Pritchard, Michael Raftery, Robert Raftery, Armin Rayburn, Howard Reed, Barry Russell, Jerry Sabine, Kathy Sawyer, Lester Scarberry, Jeffrey Singleton, Danny Sprouse, Ronald Swank, Ronald Thomas, Stephen Thompson, Roxanne Toole, Jill Trego, Kathy Trego, Timothy Triance, Catherine Vanover, Sandra Welch, Randall Wharton, Steven White, Gary Wilcox, Sharon Woodworth.

The program at the June 3 meeting of the Ashville Kiwanis Club was presented by Ray Noeher, who recently spent a considerable amount of time in the farming area of Argentina. He also showed some very good pictures he had taken while there. He said that he had found that there is a wide cultural difference between Argentina and his own country but that the people of both are basically alike in their aspirations.

Lt. Governor Ed Miller was also present and attended the Board meeting following the regular meeting.

It was announced that the Division Council meeting would be held in Circleville on June 9.

The June 10 meeting was held in the Village United Methodist Church with the Ashville Pythian Sisters serving the dinner and the Community Youth Choir providing the program.

Mrs. Marie Mershon was honored with a going-away party on May 23 at the home of Mrs. Judy Welsh.

Enjoying the evening together were Mrs. Mershon, Mrs. Vaughn Herdman, Mrs. Peter McQuain, Mrs. Ronald Crosley, Mrs. Dick Miller, Mrs. Clarence Bandy, Mrs. Walter Myers and the hostess, Mrs. Welsh.

Games were played and refreshments served during the evening.

Mrs. Mershon has now joined her husband in South Daytona Beach, Florida, where he is employed.

The Pythian Sisters of Ashville Temple 366 will meet in the K of P Hall Tuesday, June 17, for the last meeting before summer recess.

Hostesses will be Charlotte Rife, Mildred Fuller, Evelyn Morrison, Winnie Morrison and Mildred Kuhn.

Mr. and Mrs. James Tussing (Marcia Cook) announce the birth of a son, Bradley David. The baby arrived at 8:08 a.m. on June 9, Grant Hospital in Columbus. The Tussings also have a son, Jimmy.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cook and paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Tussing.

Here is a list of Ashville Elementary students who had a perfect attendance record this school year:

Egypt Develops New Strains Of Cotton

CAIRO (AP) — In an effort to boost cotton production and industry, the country's main source of foreign currency, Egypt will produce three new breeds of cotton.

Cotton breeding experts declare experiments on these types of cotton show they will increase productive quantity, yield earlier and cotton fiber will be longer and stronger.

The minister of Agriculture Sayed Meray, declared that these new types of cotton, which will be planted next year, will further increase Egypt's long-staple reputation.

A&P Claims Underworld Behind Fires

NEW YORK (AP)—The A&P supermarket chain says at least one of its store managers was murdered and $50-million in arson damage committed on its stores and warehouses in an underworld attempt to force it to buy a certain brand of detergent, the Queens district attorney's office reported Thursday.

The supermarket chain said the incidents occurred over the past several years, Dist. Atty. Thomas J. Mackell said through a spokesman.

Mackell's office said one man had been indicted for arson in the case, James A. Castorina, 20, of Mamaroneck, N.Y., a one-time porter in an A&P warehouse in Elmsford, in Westchester County.

He was charged with first-degree arson in connection with a fire that caused $6 million in damage at an A&P warehouse in Ridgewood, Queens, a year ago.

The district attorney's office said the warehouse at which Castorina worked in Elmsford also had been damaged to the extent of $18.2 million 18 months ago. That fire was declared suspicious, the spokesman said.

Details on the A&P charges were not immediately available.

Restoration Set

CAPE TOWN, South Africa (AP) — Cape Town's Malay quarter, housing the descendants of slaves shipped from the old Dutch East Indies, will be reconstructed as a historical relic.

The City Council was told the government would pay about half of the Rands 677,000 ($947,800 costs of restoring some of the white-washed colonial-style cottages.

A&P Claims Underworld Behind Fires

NEW YORK (AP)—The A&P supermarket chain says at least one of its store managers was murdered and $50-million in arson damage committed on its stores and warehouses in an underworld attempt to force it to buy a certain brand of detergent, the Queens district attorneys office reported Thursday.

The supermarket chain said the incidents occurred over the past several years, Dist. Atty. Thomas J. Mackell said through a spokesman.

Mackell's office said one man had been indicted for arson in the case, James A. Castorina, 20, of Mamaroneck, N.Y., a one-time porter in an A&P warehouse in Elmsford, in Westchester County.

He was charged with first-degree arson in connection with a fire that caused $6 million in damage at an A&P warehouse in Ridgewood, Queens, a year ago.

The district attorneys office said the warehouse at which Castorina worked in Elmsford also had been damaged to the extent of $18.2 million 18 months ago. That fire was declared suspicious, the spokesman said.

Details on the A&P charges were not immediately available.

Old Glory's Day

Appreciation of the beauty of the American flag is sometimes described as intermittent, like the surge of a returning tide. Every American should take a long, good look at it on Flag Day, wherever it is displayed.

As often as the flag is seen in a new light of inspiration, one is reminded anew that "A thing of beauty is a joy forever." It is particularly true that Old Glory's beauty is in the eye of the beholder — the inner eye of

The flag's ribboned, star-spangled undulation conveys the tradition of our country's resolute independence, dearly won freedom and continuing espousal of the individual's unalienable rights.

Let a pledge of allegiance to the flag be combined with a prayer that Heaven will smile on it and uphold it to caressing winds for all time, as it ever hitherto has vouchsafed its favor and benediction.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — A lot of Americans seem to have forgotten a topic that not so long ago was crowded from government offices, broadcast from studios, issued statistically from banks, even boasted from pulpits.

Amid all the fuss about the high price of meat and vegetables and the inability to obtain a home mortgage and the war and the revolt of youth, there seems to be less pride in the subject than you'd have guessed a year or so ago.

What has been forgotten? Nothing less than the great economic expansion, which has changed the style of life in America as surely as life was changed by its opposite, the great depression of the 1930's.

This is the 100th month of an unprecedented economic surge that began in February 1961 and which now, in the accepted terminology, gives Americans the highest standard of living ever achieved by man.

Like astronauts, many Americans have been lofted to another world, one never before approached by man. It provokes the question: How do you like it?

A little disappointing, it would seem, although perhaps more exciting than the dull, plaster of Paris landscape seen by the first astronaut to circle the moon. Very likely, many Americans might answer the question like this:

"Well, it's great to have a good job and to be able to do the things that money permits, but

In the strictly financial sphere, the chief gripe is likely to be about inflation, for although many wage earners have received increases far above the rate of inflation, other Americans in recent months have been on a treadmill.

A little inflation might be a good thing, it can be argued, and in the first years of the great expansion it existed at a rate of only 1.3 per cent a year. Now it is close to 8 per cent, and food prices especially are soaring.

The great expansion is clearly at a critical point, and Treasury

Secretary David M. Kennedy warns that inflation could get out of hand and cause the great expansion to roll over the drop off into a recession.

His somber warning clearly indicates that the nation is in the midst of a new and treacherous economic phase in which it no longer can bound ahead without thinking of the consequences.

An argument can be made for forecasting now a period of reflection for America, a time for considering where the nation is going and what price should be paid, a time for assessing the fabulous and troubled decades of the 1950's.

It must be conceded that the standard of living, narrowly construed, has indeed risen, and very sharply. More people are earning more money from more jobs than ever before. And unemployment remains low at 3.5 per cent.

But many other figures used to prove the case concern themselves primarily with quantities and usually say little about the quality of life.

NAVIGATING a river with so many shoals, shallows, and mudbanks as the Mississippi presents problems with which most skippers need not contend. In the days of paddlewheelers, for instance, one captain, picking his way from Cincinnati to Natchez, was attempting to scrape over a treacherous sand bar when he saw a man on the bank filling a pail with water.

"Hey, you scoundrel," shouted the alarmed captain. "You put that water back!"

Today when a big magazine goes out of business, it's front page news, but in the depression days so many periodicals folded that their passing often went unnoticed entirely—except by the creditors. A contributor insists that one of these fly-by-night operations employed a treasurer who always wore a gray suit, so the publisher painted the office gray to make him invisible. Creditors lined up in the reception room would see a red spot moving rapidly along the wall, and by the time they realized it was the treasurer's ruddy face, he was ten blocks away.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My skin is very sensitive and I seem to develop many annoying symptoms. For example, my skin itches a great deal. I get hives without any special reason.

It is true that I am not very sick with it, but it bothers me a lot and it is sometimes embarrassing to scratch so much.

My doctor seems to think that "it is all nerves" and that I must try to rest my emotions. What have the emotions got to do with skin problems?

Mrs. L. F. F., Texas
Dear Mrs. F.: The skin is considered the largest organ in the body, and certainly it is one of the most complex. Few people realize that, besides being a protective covering, the skin controls body heat and is involved in many of the body's functions in health and disease.

It is an accepted fact that there is a very close relationship between the emotions and skin disorders. This does not mean that the skin does not also suffer from infections, inflammations, tumors and injuries. It becomes necessary, therefore, that all physical disease must be ruled out before a psychological basis for a skin condition is considered.

Itching and tickling sensations of the skin are all part of the body's pain system. Itching, therefore, becomes a symptom to be evaluated just as pain would be anywhere else in the body.

Highly nervous, anxious, tense and even depressed patients frequently complain of severe and distressing itching. This is an accepted fact, but before this diagnosis is made every effort should be made, as I am sure has been done in your case, to uncover a physical reason for these unpleasant symptoms.

It is well known that, during severe emotional periods of anger or fear, marked sweating occurs. Psychological testing has shown how excessive perspiration on the forehead, the hands and soles of the feet is directly related to the emotions.

Giant hives, with intense itching, can occur even in the absence of allergies, drugs, insect bites or other obvious causes.

anxiety and emotional tension, can relieve distressing skin symptoms such as yours. The local application of creams with cortisone is suggested in some instances.

Patients must learn not to take it as an insult when their physician comes to the conclusion that the emotions may be responsible for a symptom. It is not a sign of weakness or inadequacy. In fact, in this troubled world, I often wonder how any of us can escape without a massive case of nerves.

Let's Look At The Record

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
The ritualistic liberals are drawing the strangest lessons from the recent election of Mayor Sam Yorty to serve a third term in the Los Angeles City Hall.

With one accord they have said that Sam won as the result of a "vicious" and "racist" campaign against Negro Councilman Tom Bradley. Then they turn around and argue that Sam owed his victory to far-off events in Berkeley and on other college campuses and to the fantastic black militant demand for millions of dollars in "reparations" from church members whose ancestors for the most part had absolutely nothing to do with either the slave trade or maintaining the plantation system of the Old South. But the fact, as authenticated by Los Angeles sources that I trust, is that Sam Yorty stuck close to the record during the campaign, and the fears about Left Wing militancy that brought eighty per cent of the electorate to the polls were due to the character of some of the men Tom Bradley chose to help him. The Los Angeles contest was fought out on local issues. The probability is that the result of the election would have been the same if Berkeley, way up North, had remained calm and if the black militants in the rest of the country had observed a month of silence.

The truth is that Sam Yorty was amazingly specific in his charges that Bradley was "soft on militants." He produced testimony taken by the House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities in 1951 that Don Rothenberg, Bradley's campaign coordinator, had been a member of a Washington D.C., Communist cell. When Bradley and Rothenberg objected that this was ancient history and that Rothenberg had quit the Communists fifteen years ago, Yorty retorted that radicalism doesn't necessarily rest on party affiliation. Rothenberg, he insisted (and he displayed news clippings from San Francisco to prove it), had chaired a meeting as recently as 1967 which had kicked off a drive for funds to buy guns for militant Bay area Negroes in expectation of a "long hot summer."

Moreover, Rothenberg had been an assistant to Edward Keating, then publisher of the extremist Left - Wing magazine, Ramparts and had acted as Northern Director of Californians for Liberal Representation, an organization which the 1967 report of the State Senate Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities had said was heavily infiltrated with radicals, some of them closely connected with the Communist Party. The Southern Director of the CLR, Maurice Weiner, served as Bradley's campaign manager.

Was it "vicious" of Yorty to ask Bradley to separate people like Rothenberg and Weiner from his campaign entourage? Was it "racist" to bring up the matter of Rothenberg's connection with the 1967 Bay area meeting that touched off the drive to buy guns for arming ghetto militants? If it is to be

Keep Birds And Bees Out Of Sex Education

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The birds and the bees should be kept out of sex education, a symposium on "Sex and Marriage in the Permissive Society" was told here.

accounted an unconscious piece of dirty pool to make the record clear, then all our political campaigns are "vicious." Yorty is no better and no worse than anybody else when it comes to taking advantage of an issue when it is handed to him on a platter. But the ritualistic liberals, who "explained" the Yorty victory to the nation without themselves admitting that Yorty had something on which to base his charges, are guilty of practicing journalistic concealment.

If Yorty is "vicious," the ritualistic liberals will have to make the same charge against such respected and respectable Democratic Representatives in Washington as John S. Monagan of Connecticut and Edith Green of Oregon, who have said quite publicly in a taped joint broadcast that small minorities of revolutionists and anarchists have been stirring unrest on the campuses.

"I am absolutely persuaded," said Edith Green, "that we do have on our college campuses out-and-out revolutionaries." To which statement Congressman Monagan added his comment that the appeasement of such characters by university administrators "cannot continue."

This is the sort of thing Sam Yorty was saying during his campaign. He might be faulted for being unoriginal, but why is it "vicious" to proclaim what Washington as John S. Monagan is in front of one's nose?

Robertson's Oscar

By BOB THOMAS

AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Cliff Robertson was a contract player at Columbia a dozen years ago, he engaged in many a battle with the studio's autocrat, Harry Cohn. One day the actor announced he would rather take another suspension than do the B picture he had been assigned to. Cohn shouted at him, "Kid, ya got more guts than brains."

Now the holder of an Oscar because of his foolhardiness, Robertson concludes, "You know, old Harry must have been right."

Robertson's travels with "Charly" are well known. How he played "The Two Worlds of Charly Gordon" on television and fell in love with the role. How he bought the rights and tried to interest the major film companies in making the movie. How he finally succeeded with a new company, funded by the ABC network.

The pleasing climax to the story came with his Academy Award for best performance by an actor in 1968. His reward comes in another kind of gold too.

"It's a nice feeling to have 25 per cent of the profits of such a picture," he smiled. "Especially when you hear the kind of projections that have been made—$9 million domestic gross, $4 million overseas.

"I don't know what effect the Oscar will have on the gross; the rule of thumb is a million dollars added to the total. But I suspect that the amount will be greater in the case of 'Charly' because I'm not a big, fat box office star. The Oscar will cause more people to take notice of the picture."

Cliff Robertson has not been a box-office star yet. He has lingered in the fringes of top stardom since his 1956 debut in "Picnic" and almost made the bigtime as John F. Kennedy in "PT-109." But the picture misfired and sent Robertson back to playing leads in medium-sized films.

"Charly" and Oscar appear to be changing that. He has been perusing 50 scripts in search of a vehicle, and many are the kind that only top stars receive. But Robertson is film-wise enough not to court the Oscar jinx: "I told my agents not to go wild and start asking for a million dollars a picture. I want to go where the words are; a good script means more to me than a good deal."

Larger and more brilliant signs fronted the office of Western Union Telegraph.

Through the courtesy of the Columbus Automobile Club, the children from the County Home were entertained at Olentangy Park, Columbus. There were 36 children in the home.

George Ammer, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Ammer, of Pleasant St., completed his second ship model, the "Santa Maria." According to the newspaper article, it was a great improvement over his first attempt. The model sailing vessel was seven inches wide, 21 inches long and 22 inches high.

The "Three Wendells" of Atlanta — Wendell Kirk, Wendell Evans and Wendell Turner — escaped with minor cuts and bruises when the car in which they were riding left the road and upset. The car was badly damaged.

Four High St. School children established a record when they were neither absent nor tardy during the school year. The fourth graders were Dorothy Avis, Milton Morris, William Ammer and Margaret Riegel.

Miss Mary Clark, daughter of Mrs. George Clark of Muhlenberg Twp., appeared in concert at the Darbyville school auditorium. She was a junior in the School of Music at Ohio University, Athens.

Pickaway County banks received samples of the new and smaller paper currency which would be placed in circulation following issuance by the U.S. Treasury on July 1.

Circleville city council approved plans and specifications for the city's municipal hospital to be constructed on the Myers tract, N. Pickaway St. The hospital was planned to contain 25 beds with a pair of two-bed wards and two four-bed wards.

A formal opening of the newly-redecorated Palace Restaurant was held. The Circleville restaurant had operated in the same surroundings for 25 years. Denny Pickens was manager.

The Metropolitan theater which had been closed for three months, reopened under J. L. Hatcher who had rewired the theater for electrical recorded music and effects. All pictures were to be scored and synchronized.

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

My skin is very sensitive and I seem to develop many annoying symptoms. For example, my skin itches a great deal. I get hives without any special reason.

It is true that I am not very sick with it, but it bothers me a lot and it is sometimes embarrassing to scratch so much.

My doctor seems to think that "it is all nerves" and that I must try to rest my emotions. What have the emotions got to do with skin problems?

Mrs. L. F. F. Texas
Dear Mrs. F.: The skin is considered the largest organ in the body, and certainly it is one of the most complex. Few people realize that, besides being a protective covering, the skin controls body heat and is involved in many of the body's functions in health and disease.

It is an accepted fact that there is a very close relationship between the emotions and skin disorders. This does not mean that the skin does not also suffer from infections, inflammations, tumors and injuries. It becomes necessary, therefore, that all physical disease must be ruled out before a psychological basis for a skin condition is considered.

Itching and tickling sensations of the skin are all part of the body's pain system. Itching, therefore, becomes a symptom to be evaluated just as pain would be anywhere else in the body.

Highly nervous, anxious, tense and even depressed patients frequently complain of severe and distressing itching. This is an accepted fact, but before this diagnosis is made every effort should be made, as I am sure has been done in your case, to uncover a physical reason for these unpleasant symptoms.

It is well known that, during severe emotional periods of anger or fear, marked sweating occurs. Psychological testing has shown how excessive perspiration on the forehead, the hands and soles of the feet is directly related to the emotions.

Giant hives, with intense itching, can occur even in the absence of allergies, drugs, insect bites or other obvious causes.

When your physician says that "it is all nerves" and that you must "rest your emotions," he undoubtedly arrived at that conclusion by careful judgment. There are now a great many drugs which, by reducing anxiety and emotional tension, can relieve distressing skin symptoms such as yours. The local application of creams with cortisone is suggested in some instances.

Patients must learn not to take it as an insult when their physician comes to the conclusion that the emotions may be responsible for a symptom. It is not a sign of weakness or inadequacy. In fact, in this troubled world, I often wonder how any of us can escape without a massive case of nerves.

Let's Look At The Record

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
The ritualistic liberals are drawing the strongest lessons from the recent election of Mayor Sam Yorty to serve a third term in the Los Angeles City Hall.

With one accord they have said that Sam won as the result of a "vicious" and "racist" campaign against Negro Councilman Tom Bradley. Then they turn around and argue that Sam owed his victory to far-off events in Berkeley and on other college campuses and to the fantastic black militant demand for millions of dollars in "reparations" from church members whose ancestors for the most part had absolutely nothing to do with either the slave trade or maintaining the plantation system of the Old South. But the fact, as authenticated by Los Angeles sources that I trust, is that Sam Yorty stuck close to the record during the campaign, and the fears about Left Wing militancy that brought eighty per cent of the electorate to the polls were due to the character of some of the men Tom Bradley chose to help him. The Los Angeles contest was fought out on local issues. The probability is that the result of the election would have been the same if Berkeley, way up North, had remained calm and if the black militants in the rest of the country had observed a month of silence.

The truth is that Sam Yorty was amazingly specific in his charges that Bradley was "soft on militants." He produced testimony taken by the House of Representatives Committee on Un-American Activities in 1951 that Don Rothenberg, Bradley's campaign coordinator, had been a member of a Washington D.C., Communist cell. When Bradley and Rothenberg objected that this was ancient history and that Rothenberg had quit the Communists fifteen years ago, Yorty retorted that radicalism doesn't necessarily rest on party affiliation. Rothenberg, he insisted (and he displayed news clippings from San Francisco to prove it), had chaired a meeting as recently as 1967 which had kicked off a drive for funds to buy guns for militant Bay area Negroes in expectation of a "long hot summer."

Moreover, Rothenberg had been an assistant to Edward Keating, then publisher of the extremist Left - Wing magazine, Ramparts, and had acted as Northern Director of Californians for Liberal Representation, an organization which the 1967 report of the State Senate Fact-Finding Committee on Un-American Activities had said was heavily infiltrated with radicals, some of them closely connected with the Communist Party. The Southern Director of the CLR, Maurice Weiner, served as Bradley's campaign manager.

Was it "vicious" of Yorty to ask Bradley to separate people like Rothenberg and Weiner from his campaign entourage? Was it "racist" to bring up the matter of Rothenberg's connection with the 1967 Bay area meeting that touched off the drive to buy guns for arming ghetto militants? If it is to be accounted an unconscionable piece of dirty pool to make the record clear, then all our political campaigns are "vicious." Yorty is no better and no worse than anybody else when it comes to taking advantage of an issue when it is handed to him on a platter. But the ritualistic liberals, who "explained" the Yorty victory to the nation without themselves admitting that Yorty had something on which to base his charges, are guilty of practicing journalistic concealment.

If Yorty is "vicious," the ritualistic liberals will have to make the same charge against such respected and respectable Democratic Representatives in Washington as John S. Monagan of Connecticut and Edith Green of Oregon, who have said quite publicly in a taped joint broadcast that small minorities of revolutionists and anarchists have been stirring unrest on the campuses.

"I am absolutely persuaded," said Edith Green, "that we do have on our college campuses out-and-out revolutionaries." To which statement Congressman Monagan added his comment that the appeasement of such characters by university administrators "cannot continue." This is the sort of thing Sam Yorty was saying during his campaign. He might be faulted for being unoriginal, but why Democratic Representatives in Washington as John S. Monagan is in front of one's nose?

Robertson's Oscar

By BOB THOMAS
AP Television-Movie Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — When Cliff Robertson was a contract player at Columbia a dozen years ago, he engaged in many a battle with the studio's autocrat, Harry Cohn. One day the actor announced he would rather take another suspension than do the B picture he had been assigned to. Cohn shouted at him, "Kid, ya got more guts than brains."

Now the holder of an Oscar because of his foolhardiness, Robertson concludes, "You know, old Harry must have been right."

Robertson's travels with "Charly" are well known. How he played "The Two Worlds of Charly Gordon" on television and fell in love with the role. How he bought the rights and tried to interest the major film companies in making the movie. How he finally succeeded with a new company, funded by the ABC network.

The pleasing climax to the story came with his Academy Award for best performance by an actor in 1968. His reward comes in another kind of gold too.

"It's a nice feeling to have 25 per cent of the profits of such a picture," he smiled. "Especially when you hear the kind of projections that have been made—$9 million domestic gross, $4 million overseas.

"I don't know what effect the Oscar will have on the gross; the rule of thumb is a million dollars added to the total. But I suspect that the amount will be greater in the case of 'Charly' because I'm not a big, fat box office star. The Oscar will cause more people to take notice of the picture."

Cliff Robertson has not been a box-office star-let. He has lingered in the fringes of top stardom since his 1956 debut in "Picnic" and almost made the bigtime as John F. Kennedy in "PT-109." But the picture misfired and sent Robertson back to playing leads in medium-sized films.

"Charly" and Oscar appear to be changing that. He has been perusing 50 scripts in search of a vehicle, and many are the kind that only top stars receive. But Robertson is film-wise enough not to court the Oscar jinx: "I told my agents not to go wild and start asking for a million dollars a picture. I want to go where the words are; a good script means more to me than a good deal."

JUNE, 1929
40 YEARS AGO

The June 1 edition of The Circleville Herald was edited and published by the journalism class of Circleville High School. The high school students were in charge of all departments of the newspaper with the exception of the business office.

Larger and more brilliant signs fronted the office of Western Union Telegraph.

Through the courtesy of the Columbus Automobile Club, the children from the County Home were entertained at Olentangy Park, Columbus. There were 36 children in the home.

George Ammer, 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Ammer, of Pleasant St., completed his second ship model, the "Santa Maria." According to the newspaper article, it was a great improvement over his first attempt. The model sailing vessel was seven inches wide, 21 inches long and 22 inches high.

The "Three Wendells" of Atlanta — Wendell Kirk, Wendell Evans and Wendell Turner — escaped with minor cuts and bruises when the car in which they were riding left the road and upset. The car was badly damaged.

Four High St. School children established a record when they were neither absent nor tardy during the school year. The fourth graders were Dorothy Avis, Milton Morris, William Ammer and Margaret Riegel.

Miss Mary Clark, daughter of Mrs. George Clark of Mullenberg Twp., appeared in concert at the Darbyville school auditorium. She was a junior in the School of Music at Ohio University, Athens.

Pickaway County banks received samples of the new and smaller paper currency which would be placed in circulation following issuance by the U.S. Treasury on July 1.

Circleville city council approved plans and specifications for the city's municipal hospital to be constructed on the Myers tract, N. Pickaway St. The hospital was planned to contain 25 beds with a pair of two-bed wards and two four-bed wards.

A formal opening of the newly-redecorated Palace Restaurant was held. The Circleville restaurant had operated in the same surroundings for 25 years. Denny Pickens was manager.

The Metropolitan theater which had been closed for three months, reopened under J. L. Hatcher who had rewired the theater for electrical recorded music and effects. All pictures were to be scored and synchronized.

According To Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — If you're at loose ends about what to do this summer, why not spend at least part of the time practicing up on your double talk? Double talk, of course, is the polite conversational art of saying one thing while thinking another. It keeps you mentally healthy and at the same time socially safe.

The more skilled a person becomes at double talk the greater are his chances to marry the mate of his choice, achieve prestige, influence people and become wealthy. It can also be a big help in borrowing or inheriting money.

For the beginner, here are a few typical examples of double talk—followed by a translation of their probable real meaning. "I can get it for you wholesale."

"—My brother-in-law owns the store, and I get a 10 per cent rakeoff for any trade I bring him."

"No, Ronald, I don't think your whiskers feel too rough tonight."—What does this guy shave with anyway, a Boy Scout ax?

"Would you mind looking up the spelling of it in your dictionary, Mabel?"—I never can remember which letter follows which in the alphabet.

"Our son is staying out of college for a year until he decides what he really wants to do with his life."—He flunked three subjects and was suspended.

"... and this cozy little apartment we like to call our junior executive suite."—But only a midge could be happy in it.

"I can't tell you how much fun we had watching those movies you and Belle took on your last trip to Europe, Henry."—The next time you invite us over for an evening remind us to bring along blindfolds.

"No, don't tell me... just a moment now and I'll have it... you must be John."—Or Jack or Jim or Jeremiah or Charley, who really cares?

"Well, I'll say one thing Bosworth, you certainly were the life of the party."—But if you were trying to get attention, why didn't you simply drop dead?

"Actually, I prefer a dimly lit restaurant such as this—it makes me feel more romantic."—And besides, big boy, it keeps you from seeing my wrinkles.

"That diet you're on really is slimming you down, Hazel."—I guess it also helps to wear a girdle so tight you can hardly breathe in it.

"Well, I don't agree with everything you had to say, but your viewpoint certainly is stimulating and refreshing."—It certainly is a long time between drinks in this house.

"Why don't we just let bygones be bygones?"—I can always get even with you later, chum.

Get the idea?

Dodd To Run Again Despite Senate Censure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, still arguing his case, is determined to seek a third term in the Senate which censured him for financial misconduct two years ago.

A spokesman for the Connecticut Democrat said Dodd has not wavered in the decision he announced after the Senate marked him with the censure invoked upon only five other senators in American history.

Dodd said then he would seek vindication from the voters by running for re-election in 1970.

"He's repeated that decision many times," a spokesman said Thursday.

Dodd will encounter no lack of opposition.

At least two Democrats are expected to challenge him for renomination.

And a party strategist said if Dodd overcame the burden of censure to win the Democratic nomination, he would stand little chance against a Republican in the general election.

One Democratic rival already evident is Joseph Duffey of Hartford, new national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action.

Duffey was a leader of the Connecticut campaign forces of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy during the 1968 presidential race.

In addition, the Democratic State Committee—headed by former national chairman John M. Bailey—is expected to enter a candidate still to be chosen.

The initial contest will be in state convention, but the final choice is by primary election. A candidate who captures 29 per cent of the convention vote can go on to the primary, the route Dodd is likely to follow.

Dodd himself recalled the charges that led to his censure with a speech in the Senate Thursday proposing Congress make it a federal crime to take or copy without authorization documents in a federal office.

Dodd's troubles began when four former employees took papers from his office files and gave copies to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

The columns led to a Senate investigation and ultimately to censure by 92 to 5 vote June 23, 1967.

The Senate judged Dodd guilty of using at least $116,083 in political funds for personal purposes.

Dodd filed suit against Pearson and Anderson for receiving and using documents taken from his office. The suit was rejected by a federal appeals court, and the Supreme Court Monday refused to review the case.

In his Senate speech, Dodd said the appeals court reversal of a ruling against the columnists was "confused and outrageous."

Dodd said "conspirators and plunderers" invaded his office to take the documents.

His bill would provide penalties of up to five years in prison and $5,000 in fines against anyone, even an employee, who removes files from a federal office, copies them without authorization, or receives such documents.

It also would punish anyone who illegally enters the office of a federal official after closing hours.

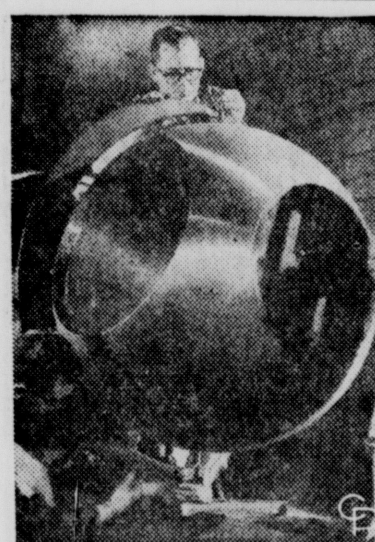

The Adult Reading World

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Pickaway County Public Library offers a variety of books for summertime reading pleasure. A list of suggested books for adult reading will be reviewed weekly by The Herald by the library staff.

"Voyage to Atlantis" by James W. Mavor Jr. (non-fiction). In the summer of 1957 James W. Mavor Jr. of the Woods Hole Oceanographic Institution in Massachusetts took part in excavations made on the island of Thera, now called Santorin, in the Aegean Sea, where an entire Minoan city, almost perfectly preserved, was uncovered from volcanic ash. Mr. Mavor is satisfied that the discovery confirms the theory that Thera is part of the lost continent of Atlantis. He relates this experience in his book.

"Lillian Gish: The Movies, Mr. Griffith and Me" by Miss Gish brings to her autobiography her experiences as a child actress at a time when to be a child actress was not considered "respectable" and relates her rise to the pinnacle of movie success. Her own life was so involved with the lives of other great names . . . Pickford, Gilbert, Garbo . . . so that it traces their lives, as well, and their effect on our own lives.

"Remember With Me" by

FLY'S EYE?—No, it's a spherical plug for control of natural gas through a 30-inch pipeline, being checked with a giant micrometer at the Rockwell plant in Kearney, Neb. The plug is milled to .0025-inch tolerance.

Ruth Lyons is the autobiography of the first lady of Midwestern broadcasting. A book both moving and entertaining.

"The Allergy Cookbook" compiled by Carol G. Emerling (non-fiction). Fifty per cent of the people in the United States suffer from food allergy. This book of recipes uses easy-to-find substitutes for allergy causing ingredients and opens a whole new world of pleasure for the allergy sufferer, and his family.

"Not So Rich As You Think" by George R. Stewart (non-fiction). This book serves to place our present situation in the matter of waste disposal in point of time and the pressing problem of an affluent society; a society based partly upon the discovery that it is cheaper to produce something in quantity than to repair it, a society psychologically inclined to throw things away, a society careless as regards disposal. Mr. Stewart's central theme is that we are not so rich as we think because the American people are not taking care of waste that they create, and it is catching up with them . . . trash, litter, garbage, smog. He offers workable solutions, at a price. Perhaps as much energy and creative ability shall need to be expended as was needed in producing the affluent society.

This book is readable, told with wit and humor.

"The Inland Island" by Josephine Johnson (non-fiction). The author tells her thoughts, feeling, impressions, in a day to day record of an Ohio farm. Her book is more than a lyrical description of nature, however. Her own words speak for the book. "I have had a love for the land all my life, and today when all life is a life against nature, against man's whole being, there is a sense of urgency, a need to record and cherish, and to share this love before it is too late."

Mrs. Johnson has lived in Cincinnati since 1945. Her first novel, "Now in November," was awarded the Pulitzer Prize.

Child-To-Child Teaching Success

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When you set children to teaching younger children, the young ones learn faster and the older ones become sharper witted.

The teachers gain time to spend with pupils who need them most.

The principal solves his teacher shortage.

These conclusions emerged Thursday at a news conference summarizing the first year of an experiment in education at Pacoima Elementary School in north-central Los Angeles.

This year, fifth and sixth graders have tutored kindergarten and first grade pupils. Next year, all grades will be involved.

"Most of what kids learn comes from other kids anyway," said Dr. Ralph J. Melaragne, one of the project directors. "We're capitalizing on this."

"One of the great needs in education is for more individual instruction. This is the best and least expensive way we've found of providing it."

"Instead of one teacher for 30 children, we now have one for every five or six. The tutors are warm and close to the younger children, but they make them work."

The student tutors receive several weeks of instruction before they are assigned to duty. "For example," said Melaragne, "we don't let them say to the little ones, 'You're wrong.' When mistakes are made, the tutors simply tell them what the correct answer is."

Judy Walsh, a teacher, said: "I was worried at first that I would not know what the younger children were doing, but the older ones do a good job of keeping me posted on progress."

"As for discipline, it couldn't be better. If I have to leave the room, I find when I come back that they don't even know I've been gone."

What do the children think of it?

"It's fun," said Kate Suda, 10, who takes an hour a day from her fifth grade studies to tutor in kindergarten.

Looking down at 5-year-old Jeffrey Harris, she said, "He's doing so much better."

Said Jeffrey: "I like Kate. She's nice."

Many of Pacoima's 1,609 students—45 per cent Negro, 40 per cent Mexican-American, 15 per cent white—come from poor homes. Many have emotional and mental problems.

"But the program is not designed for poor areas alone," said Principal Bill Lyle.

Escape Attempt Ends With Bond Plea Withdrawal

NEW YORK (AP)—Travis G. Burke, 21, Cincinnati, charged with bank robberies in New York and Cincinnati, attempted to escape Thursday from the custody of federal marshals.

Burke managed to shed his handcuffs while in a van with other prisoners and bolted for freedom when the van arrived at the marshals' garage.

He was apprehended about half a block away.

Officials said the escape try came as Burke was being returned to jail from a bail reduction hearing, during which a U. S. attorney called him a "very poor bail risk."

After the escape attempt, the move to reduce Burke's $20,000 bail was marked "withdrawn."

Toastmasters Hold Meet

The Circleville Toastmasters Club met in regular session Thursday at the L-K Restaurant. The dinner-business portion of the meeting was conducted by President Chuck Orr.

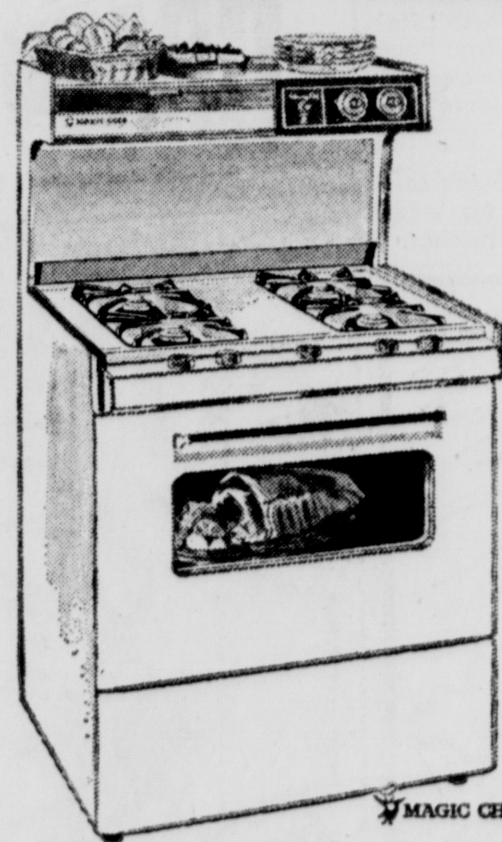

A unanimous vote was cast to have one meeting, on the fourth Thursday of the month, during the months of July and August. The July meeting will be a husband-wife picnic session under the chairmanship of Dick Theis.

President Orr introduced the Toastmaster of the evening, Gary Agin, who hosted the speaking format.

The table topics segment of the meet resulted in a dead heat as Rusty Vaughn and Frank Plescia tied for top billing as best impromptu speaker of the night.

The formal speaker, with a speech entitled "Our Sick Prison System," was Dick Theis. Other prepared speeches were given by Tom Mingy, Rusty Vaughn, and Howard Snook.

The initial contest will be in state convention, but the final choice is by primary election. A candidate who captures 20 per cent of the convention vote can go on to the primary, the route Dodd is likely to follow.

Dodd himself recalled the charges that led to his censure with a speech in the Senate Thursday proposing Congress make it a federal crime to take or copy without authorization documents in a federal office.

Dodd's troubles began when four former employees took papers from his office files and gave copies to columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

The columns led to a Senate investigation and ultimately to censure by 92 to 5 vote June 23, 1967.

The Senate judged Dodd guilty of using at least $116,083 in political funds for personal purposes.

Dodd filed suit against Pearson and Anderson for receiving and using documents taken from his office. The suit was rejected by a federal appeals court, and the Supreme Court Monday refused to review the case.

In his Senate speech, Dodd said the appeals court reversal of a ruling against the columnists was "confused and outrageous."

Dodd said "conspirators and plunderers" invaded his office to take the documents.

His bill would provide penalties of up to five years in prison and $5,000 in fines against anyone, even an employee, who removes files from a federal office, copies them without authorization, or receives such documents.

It also would punish anyone who illegally enters the office of a federal official after closing hours.

Child-To-Child Teaching Success

LOS ANGELES (AP) — When you set children to teaching younger children, the young ones learn faster and the older ones become sharper witted.

The teachers gain time to spend with pupils who need them most.

The principal solves his teacher shortage.

These conclusions emerged Thursday at a news conference summarizing the first year of an experiment in education at Pico Elementary School in north-central Los Angeles.

This year, fifth and sixth graders have tutored kindergarten and first grade pupils. Next year, all grades will be involved.

"Most of what kids learn comes from other kids anyway," said Dr. Ralph J. Melaragne, one of the project directors. "We're capitalizing on this."

"One of the great needs in education is for more individual instruction. This is the best and least expensive way we've found of providing it."

her fifth grade studies to tutor in kindergarten.

Looking down at 5-year-old Jeffrey Harris, she said, "He's doing so much better."

Said Jeffrey: "I like Kate. She's nice."

Many of Pico's 1,600 students—45 per cent Negro, 40 per cent Mexican-American, 15 per cent white—come from poor homes. Many have emotional and mental problems.

"But the program is not designed for poor areas alone," said Principal Bill Lyle.

Lyle said selection as a tutor

"changes the whole attitude of the one chosen. He's important, he finds a place in the sun."

The younger ones benefit, too, he said. "There's an understanding between children that is difficult for a teacher to achieve, especially with 30 or more children in the room."

IN BIG TROUBLE in New York is Anthony Guarino (above), a carpenter from Italy who faces 60 counts of practicing medicine without a license. Authorities found out Guarino, 30, because he had marriage licenses pending with two women—and he already is married to a third.

Toastmasters Hold Meet

The Circleville Toastmasters Club met in regular session Thursday at the L-K Restaurant. The dinner-business portion of the meeting was conducted by President Chuck Orr.

A unanimous vote was cast to have one meeting, on the fourth Thursday of the month, during the months of July and August. The July meeting will be a husband-wife picnic session under the chairmanship of Dick Theis.

President Orr introduced the Toastmaster of the evening, Gary Agin, who hosted the speaking format.

The table topics segment of the meet resulted in a dead heat as Rusty Vaughn and Frank Plescia tied for top billing as best impromptu speaker of the night.

The formal speaker, with a speech entitled "Our Sick Prison System", was Dick Theis. Other prepared speeches were given by Tom Mingy, Rusty Vaughn, and Howard Snook.

Escape Attempt Ends With Bond Plea Withdrawal

NEW YORK (AP)—Travis G. Burke, 21, Cincinnati, charged with bank robberies in New York and Cincinnati, attempted to escape Thursday from the custody of federal marshals.

Burke managed to shed his handcuffs while in a van with other prisoners and bolted for freedom when the van arrived at the marshals' garage.

He was apprehended about half a block away.

Officials said the escape try came as Burke was being returned to jail from a bail reduction hearing, during which a U. S. attorney called him a "very poor bail risk."

After the escape attempt, the move to reduce Burke's $20,000 bail was marked "withdrawn."

Escape Attempt Ends With Bond Plea Withdrawal

Judy Walsh, a teacher, said: "I was worried at first that I would not know what the younger children were doing, but the older ones do a good job of keeping me posted on progress."

"As for discipline, it couldn't be better. If I have to leave the room, I find when I come back that they don't even know I've been gone."

What do the children think of it?

"It's fun," said Kate Suda, 10, who takes an hour a day from Chevrolet Pacesetter Values.

NEW YORK (AP)—Dick Cavett, loved by the critics but with the Nielsen jury still out, is doing the sensible thing. He is pretty certain that, come mid-September, "The Dick Cavett Show" will be over, at least until after the first part of 1970 when ABC is likely to have some drop-outs.

"I just don't think about it," he says. "We tape the show three days in a row—that keeps me from having that Monday feeling more than once a week. The hour goes so fast, but except for that, it is like having the old daytime show."

Dick, a slight, blond fellow whose off-camera manners are as meticulous as his on-stage department, enjoys—he insists—his thrice weekly prime-time programs and really doesn't expect them to go on forever.

"We're expecting to get back in midseason," he said. "So when the summer is over, I'd like to take a long trip somewhere. I'd never been abroad until I went to England to do a Tom Jones show and I'd like to do some traveling over there."

From Sunday through Wednesday Cavett is in New York. He and his wife, actress Carrie Nye, live in mid-Manhattan. As soon as the last tape is in the can, they cut out for their beach-front place on Long Island for a few days of sun, surf and snorkeling.

Cavett, on working days, gets to bed around 2 a.m., sleeps until midmorning, then goes for a walk. The rest of the day is spent in his office, a small but elegantly furnished suite in a building off Broadway, or at the studio.

Mostly he works on material about upcoming guests. He leaves the booking of guests to his staff—"I'd never pick the right ones."

A few people, mostly those he has encountered on his daytime show, reassure him.

"You do get favorites," he said. "They are the ones who, the minute they come out, you know they have things under control and you won't have trouble."

These include British actors Nicol Williamson and James Mason, Mort Sahl and his old friend and idol Groucho Marx. Marx will be his guest on tonight's show, only a half hour since it is partly pre-empted for a special report on the U.S. Open golf tournament.

"The thing that amazes me is that the hour seems to go twice as fast as the 90 minutes did," Cavett said, "and I constantly feel I ought to be applying brakes. As for my future, I honestly don't think about it. Something will happen. I'm interested in other kinds of performing—motion pictures, of course, and I'd like to direct a comedy. For now, all I'm thinking about is this show and this summer."

The program is pulling a lot of mail, most of it glowing. He has been a little jittery about some of his off-beat guests but the outrageous ones have done nothing but help the show.

"I suppose I'm enjoying it," he said. "Actually it doesn't feel too much different from the daytime show, but of course I'm conscious that many more people are seeing it."

State Hospital Probe Urged

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio General Assembly was called upon Thursday to investigate conditions at the state's mental hospitals.

Senate Minority Leader Charles J. Carney, D-33 Youngstown, introduced a resolution requesting a House - Senate probe of Hawthornden State Hospital in Summit County and other institutions.

The action followed a Summit County grand jury report Wednesday which criticized the Hawthornden hospital, saying patients there do not receive proper care, protection and diagnosis.

Carney said that if the resolution is not approved by the Republican - controlled legislature, "I'll go up there myself and take some Democratic senators with me."

The grand jury blamed the legislature and Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Corrections for conditions at Hawthornden for failing to provide adequate funds.

Mr. Floyd Valentine attended the Graduation Exercises at Ohio University, Athens, Sunday afternoon at which his grandson David Younkun was a member of the graduation class.

Prison Slaying 4th This Year

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Warden Louis Nelson blames a "Ku Klux mentality" on both sides for a Negro-white racial feud that has cost the lives of four inmates this year at San Quentin prison.

"The vast majority of the inmates want no part of it," he said Thursday in ordering most convicts locked in their cells through the weekend after seven whites were stabbed, one fatally. Three Negroes were killed earlier.

Nelson said there was a continuing struggle between 200 to 300 militants of both races. San Quentin has about 3,600 inmates, 30 per cent of them Negro, 53 per cent white and 17 per cent Latin American and other minorities.

Nelson said that Wednesday's seven white victims were echoes "for the simple reason that they were white—targets of opportunity."

"They were stabbed, he said, in a 'well-planned, well-timed' attack. The assailants used a scissors blade and toilet plunger rods honed into knives.

The six injured were reported in good condition and expected to recover. The dead man, Robert J. Adams, 30, was a convicted Los Angeles murderer.

Last April 23, a Negro was stabbed to death. Two days later four white men were stabbed, none fatally. On April 28, two more Negroes were fatally stabbed.

"We are walking a tightrope," Nelson said. "This could well blow up into a full scale war which would leave many men lying out on the ground."

Judge Says He May Have Made Error

SMITHFIELD, N.C. (AP)—A Superior Court judge says he might have made a mistake when he gave 12-year prison sentences to five young Negroes who set a Ku Klux Klan headquarters on fire the day Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was buried.

"I don't mind admitting I might have made a bad judgment," Judge William Y. Bickett of Raleigh said in an interview Thursday.

He added that his sentences last year were intended to be "a deterrent to the racial situation rather than punishment for the individual defendants." He said he did not plan to alter his judgment.

The fire caused about $100 damage to the door of the service station that housed the Ku Klux Klan headquarters in nearby Benson.

Judge Bickett said, "I might have been wrong about it but used my best judgment at the time. I was sitting on top of a red hot situation over there."

The Negroes said they set the fire after Klansmen rode through the Negro section of Benson with guns.

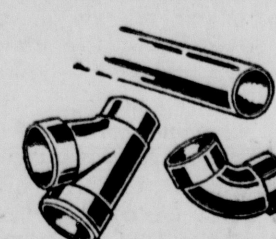

Attorneys for the five said they would press an appeal to a higher court and asked to meet with Gov. Bob Scott to discuss clemency.

The sentences have been upheld by the State Court of Appeals.

Prison Slaying 4th This Year

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (AP)—Warden Louis Nelson blames a "Ku Klux mentality" on both sides of a Negro-white racial feud that has cost the lives of four inmates this year at San Quentin prison.

"The vast majority of the inmates want no part of it," he said Thursday in ordering most convicts locked in their cells through the weekend after seven whites were stabbed, one fatally. Three Negroes were killed earlier.

Nelson said there was a continuing struggle between 200 to 300 militants of both races.

San Quentin has about 3,600 inmates, 30 per cent of them Negro, 53 per cent white and 17 per cent Latin American and other minorities.

Nelson said that Wednesday's seven white victims were echoes "for the simple reason that they were white—targets of opportunity."

They were stabbed, he said, in a "well-planned, well-timed" attack. The assailants used a scissors blade and toilet plunger rods honed into knives.

The six injured were reported in good condition and expected to recover. The dead man, Robert J. Adams, 30, was a convicted Los Angeles murderer.

Last April 23, a Negro was stabbed to death. Two days later four white men were stabbed, none fatally. On April 28, two more Negroes were fatally stabbed.

"We are walking a tightrope," Nelson said. "This could well blow up into a full scale war which would leave many men lying out on the ground."

Judge Says He May Have Made Error

SMITHFIELD, N.C. (AP)—A Superior Court judge says he might have made a mistake when he gave 12-year prison sentences to five young Negroes who set a Ku Klux Klan headquarters on fire the day Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. was buried.

"I don't mind admitting I might have made a bad judgment," Judge William Y. Bickett of Raleigh said in an interview Thursday.

He added that his sentences last year were intended to be "a deterrent to the racial situation rather than punishment for the individual defendants." He said he did not plan to alter his judgment.

The fire caused about $100 damage to the door of the service station that housed the Ku Klux Klan headquarters in nearby Benson.

Judge Bickett said, "I might have been wrong about it but used my best judgment at the time. I was sitting on top of a red hot situation over there."

The Negroes said they set the fire after Klansmen rode through the Negro section of Benson with guns.

Attorneys for the five said they would press an appeal to a higher court and asked to meet with Gov. Bob Scott to discuss clemency.

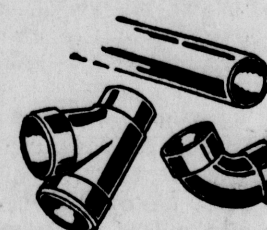

The sentences have been upheld by the State Court of Appeals.

Dear Abby:

Sing Out About Your Complaint

DEAR ABBY: We have been married for one year. My husband is 70 and I am 61. I knew when I married him that he was fond of music, but I didn't know that he had to have the music going from the time he opened his eyes in the morning until he closed them at night.

He doesn't hear too well, so he keeps the volume up. Worse yet, our tastes differ. He likes the classics and the old stuff which makes me sad and I like Nat King Cole, Herb Alpert, Dixieland, and jazz.

This man listens to music while reading, watching TV, and even during mealtime, which means there isn't much conversation between us. I can't do anything while there is music on except listen to the music.

I welcome the chance to get out of the house to get away from that music.

Would you call this a serious conflict? Am I overly sensitive or am I normal? I don't want to upset my husband as he is very considerate in other ways, but I must confess, this is a problem, what is your opinion?

TOO MUCH MUSIC
DEAR TOO: If your husband subjects you to irritating music from dawn until dusk, the "other ways" in which he is "considerate" of you don't count for much. You have a legitimate complaint. Put it to music and sing it to your music lover.

DEAR ABBY: A few weeks ago I went on a skiing week-end with my father, uncle, and older brother, and I saw something I still can't believe. I saw my father and uncle with other women, and they certainly weren't acting like married men.

I told my brother how shocked and disgusted I was, and that I was going to tell Mother when I got home, but he said I shouldn't because Dad and Uncle didn't do anything most married men don't do, and besides it wasn't so terrible.

Well, I never said anything to my mother about it but it still bothers me something awful. I thought of talking it over with my father, but I hate him so much I don't even want to look at him.

If all men act like this, I am never getting married. I guess maybe it's true that nothing lasts forever. Please give me your advice.

DISILLUSIONED AT 17
DEAR DISILLUSIONED: Don't judge all men by an episode involving your father and uncle. And don't judge THEM until more years and experience have given you added insight and wisdom. There are many marriages in which the partners—whether by commitment, effort or good luck—are faithful forever. And you can have such a marriage.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you won't think I'm awful but policemen turn me on. How can I meet one?

DOTTY

DEAR DOTTY: That's easy. Drive 50 miles an hour in 30-mile-an-hour zone. (P.S. But if you don't "turn HIM on" he's apt to turn you IN.

Plumbing Firms Cornstalk Brigade Still Has Voice

Hit By Suit For Damages

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department filed a damage claim against the nation's leading manufacturers of plumbing items Thursday to recover alleged overcharges on government purchases from 1962 to 1966.

Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell said the action, brought in U.S. District Court in Pittsburgh, Pa., did not specify the amount of damages claimed by the government.

The claim was added to a pending civil antitrust suit which accuses eight manufacturers of conspiring to fix higher prices on enameled cast iron and vitreous china plumbing fixtures.

Although the amount of damages sought was not disclosed, the claim contended the government had to pay "substantially higher prices" for plumbing fixtures because of the alleged conspiracy.

The civil action was based on criminal indictments against the companies, eight of their officials and a trade association.

A federal court jury in Pittsburgh found three of the companies and three officials guilty last month, after all other defendants pleaded no contest to the charges.

Government officials have said that verdict will likely bring on suits seeking billions of dollars from the manufacturers. Numerous actions have already been brought by private individuals across the country.

Drowns In Quarry

The "cornstalk brigade," those rural-oriented legislators supposedly retired by reapportionment, are still being heard at the statehouse.

There's a lot of the country boy left in members who moved to the city or suburbs.

They gave one of their finest, and perhaps last, presentations Wednesday as they fought unsuccessfully a bill to permit local option on Sunday liquor sales. The bill passed the House 50-45.

Often sounding like open tent evangelists, they blasted the measure on all fronts.

Conciliation Bill Aims At Divorces

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Senate Thursday adopted a bill aimed at reducing the number of divorces in Ohio.

The bill, passed 26-0 and sent to the House, would provide for difficulties between a husband and wife who are considering divorce or annulment.

"This bill is a significant step forward in divorce reform law in Ohio," the bill's sponsor, Sen. Ronald M. Mottl D-24 Parma, told the Senate.

He stressed the bill was permissive and that conciliation services would be provided only in common pleas courts where a majority of judges agreed to establish them.

Under the bill, either spouse would be able to initiate conciliation proceedings before filing for divorce or a judge could transfer a pending divorce case to a conciliation judge.

All conciliation hearings and records would be closed to the public.

increase in drunken driving and run-around husbands.

One downstate legislator said bar owners in his town feared the bill.

They're afraid it will give "drys" the ammunition they need to vote the entire town dry, he explained.

Local options elections in that county have already hit the "wets" hard. He said tavern owners would rather keep the status quo and forget about any wet-dry issues.

Legislative quote of the week:

"We ought to vote on these bills before we discuss them. It's too confusing otherwise."

So said Sen. Robert Stockdale of Kent during debate Wednesday on a bill to allow the defense in criminal cases to take depositions from witnesses prior to the grand jury.

Ray Miller Jr. of Cleveland.

former Democratic state senator and representative, is interested in getting back into politics.

Miller, friends report, wants to run for lieutenant governor in 1970. State Sen. Douglas Applegate of Steubenville, also a Democrat, is interested in the same job.

Democrats have several other young men who want on the state ticket. Lee Falke, Montgomery County prosecutor, would like to run for attorney general.

House Minority Leader John C. McDonald also may go for attorney general unless he is talked into running for governor.

When Rep. Patrick Sweeney fell from his chair during a debate on the floor Tuesday, a wag remarked it was the only positive action taken by a member from either party during the session.

Someone else noted that Sweeney fell to the floor "but missed it." Yet another jokester suggested equipping Sweeney's seat with a belt.

Sen. Michael J. Maloney, who voted against the bill to fluoridate public water supplies, was in favor of a measure requiring immunization of school children against German measles.

Sen. Howard C. Cook of Toledo ribbed Maloney prior to the vote on the immunization bill. He asked if he favored the "mass medication" proposal.

Maloney remained silent.

Nuclear Rocket Engine Tested At Desert Post

JACKASS FLATS, Nev. (AP) — A nuclear rocket engine received its first full power test under space-like conditions Wednesday. Scientists at the U.S. Nuclear Rocket Development Station said it was successful.

The engine is designed for second and third-stage rockets on missions to the planets, possibly by the late 1970s. Mounted on a 120-foot-high stand, the engine shot red flames 100 feet high for the 3½-minute test.

It registered enough force to put 25 tons into orbit and enough electrical power at 1,100 megawatts to replace the output of nearby Hoover Dam, experts said.

Work has been continuing since 1955 on the engine. So far $1.1 billion has been spent on the engine and reactor and another $1 billion will be needed to put it into space, a spokesman said.

Plan Change In British Government

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has given the go-ahead for a plan to revolutionize England's local governments and wipe out ancient city and county councils.

The plan is the product of a three-year study by a royal commission headed by Lord Redcliff-Maud, a judge.

The commission recommended scrapping the present 1,210 county, town, urban and rural councils. Instead England would be divided into eight provinces, each with an elected council to act as overlords for local "unitary authorities," administering new sizable town-and-country units. The commission explained that today's mobility and suburban living had made the 19th century division between town and country out of date.

Wilson told the House of Commons he accepted the commission's report as a blueprint for drastic reform. But with opposition building up from the countryside, political commentators thought it unlikely that any change on this scale could be pushed through for at least four years.

Farm Tour Set By Congressmen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Rep. Clarence E. Miller, a Lancaster Republican, and other members of a U.S. House Committee on Agriculture team will visit Ohio Saturday on the last leg of an inspection tour which begins in Iowa Friday morning.

The committee is tentatively scheduled to tour farms and related agricultural facilities in Fairfield, Pickaway and Madison counties in Ohio.

Large and small farms, small watershed and agricultural experiment installations are on the tour agenda aimed at getting first-hand views of farmers on current problems as well as current projects.

Nike Missile Site Plans Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has agreed to review its plans to eliminate the Nike missile site at Felicity in southern Clermont County, Ohio, Rep. William H. Harsha said Thursday.

The agreement resulted from a meeting between the Ohio Republican and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, who, Harsha said also promised that all 92 civilian technicians employed at the site will be offered new jobs or transfers if the site eventually is phased out.

He loves her ... he loves her not ...
he loves her ... or does he? If only daisy petals could give the answer!

Then there's that more introspective question: Does she really love him ...
or does she not?

And that ultimate question—still a long way off—but getting closer every day: Can theirs be a happy, lasting marriage?

Is romance a colossal gamble—or are there basic elements which are predictable?

Millions of Christian parents are stating their children's future on the latter view. They believe that religious education in the Church and religious atmosphere in the home can foster moral and spiritual maturity. They believe that character as well as love is essential to marriage ... a home ... a family.

And they want their sons and daughters to meet others who are being brought up the same way!

Plan Change In British Government

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson has given the go-ahead for a plan to revolutionize England's local governments and wipe out ancient city and county councils.

The plan is the product of a three-year study by a royal commission headed by Lord Redcliff-Maud, a judge.

The commission recommended scrapping the present 1,210 county, town, urban and rural councils. Instead England would be divided into eight provinces, each with an elected council to act as overlords for local "unitary authorities," administering new sizable town-and-country units. The commission explained that today's mobility and suburban living had made the 19th century division between town and country out of date.

Wilson told the House of Commons he accepted the commission's report as a blueprint for drastic reform. But with opposition building up from the countryside, political commentators thought it unlikely that any change on this scale could be pushed through for at least four years.

Farm Tour Set By Congressmen

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Rep. Clarence E. Miller, a Lancaster Republican, and other members of a U.S. House Committee on Agriculture team will visit Ohio Saturday on the last leg of an inspection tour which begins in Iowa Friday morning.

The committee is tentatively scheduled to tour farms and related agricultural facilities in Fairfield, Pickaway and Madison counties in Ohio.

Large and small farms, small watershed and agricultural experiment installations are on the tour agenda aimed at getting first-hand views of farmers on current problems as well as current projects.

Nike Missile Site Plans Reviewed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has agreed to review its plans to eliminate the Nike missile site at Felicity in southern Clermont County, Ohio, Rep. William H. Harsha said Thursday.

The agreement resulted from a meeting between the Ohio Republican and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, who, Harsha said also promised that all 92 civilian technicians employed at the site will be offered new jobs or transfers if the site eventually is phased out.

He loves her . . . he loves her not . . .
he loves her . . . or does he? If only daisy petals could give the answer!

Then there's that more introspective
question: Does she really love him . . .
or does she not?

And that ultimate question—still a long way off—but getting closer every day: Can theirs be a happy, lasting marriage?

Is romance a colossal gamble—or are there basic elements which are predictable?

Millions of Christian parents are stating their children's future on the latter view. They believe that religious education in the Church and religious atmosphere in the home can foster moral and spiritual maturity. They believe that character as well as love is essential to marriage . . . a home . . . a family.

And they want their sons and daughters to meet others who are being brought up the same way!

Boys' State Parties Work At Athens

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The two newest political parties in Ohio were hammering out their state of candidates for state, county and local government today as the 32nd American Legion Buckeye Boys' State moved into its second day.

Citizens of the mythical state's six counties and 24 cities caucused early to select delegates and alternates to the Federalist and Nationalist party conventions which were gavelled to order at mid-morning.

The 1,370 high school seniors who checked into their rooms at Ohio University Thursday to participate in the 10-day democracy - in - action program were divided into two political parties Thursday night.

While the political activity was gaining momentum, the youthful participants also recruited a band and set up and staffed a one-page daily newspaper.

Richard Humphrey of Poland was named editor in chief of the Hetuck — Indian for Buckeye. Curtis Peoples of Cincinnati was named news editor and David Dubs of Canton, business manager, of the news sheet which will be published daily in The Athens Messenger.

Ohio Lt. Gen. John W. Brown was to address the Boys' State tonight.

On Saturday, political campaigning is expected to reach a fever pitch with a massive rally in the evening.

Polls will open Sunday morning as the youngsters chose those who will head the executive, judicial and legislative branches of the Boys' State government.

and son Elwood spent the weekend with his sister and brother-in-law near Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Shaw (Lila Woodward) have named their daughter born May 28, Stacie Lynn.

Mrs. Joan Glick was guest of honor when Miss Margaret Chilcote entertained members of the Les Amies Sunday School class and guests at her home on Monday evening.

At 6:30 a buffet supper was served. Later the president, Goldie Byers presided during the business session.

Devotions were read by Mrs. Robert Bowers. During the social hour the hostess provided coat hangers and colored yarn and the members showed their artistic ability in decorating the hangers. These were presented to Mrs. Glick. The class also presented her with a lovely white sweater and the hostess gave her a pink carnation corsage.

Mrs. Glick with her husband, the Rev. John Glick and their children Beth, Janice, John and David will be moving to Ashville where Rev. Glick will be minister of the Methodist and Hedges Chapel churches.

Those who were present at the party included: Mrs. Orville Kempton, Miss Byers, Mrs. Howard Egan, Mrs. Bowers, Mrs. Don Kempton, Mrs. Hugh Poling, Mrs. Melvin Mettler, Mrs. Merwin McClelland, Mrs. Thomas Rose, Mrs. Ramon Maxson, Mrs. W. K. Dumm, Mrs. Robert DeLong, and guests, Mrs. J. L. Chilcote and Celesta Hoy.

Mrs. Chilcote and Mrs. Egan assisted the hostess with the serving.

Last Sunday guests of Mrs. Hazel McNeal were Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Boecher, Jan and his mother Mrs. Ruth Boecher of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. James Adkins of near Chillicothe and Mr. and Mrs. William McNeal and daughter Diana of Kingston.

Mrs. John Leonard Reynolds and son of the state of Minnesota were Friday until Monday guests of her in laws Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds.

Mrs. C. F. Bradney was Monday until Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Moore of Columbus. She also attended the funeral of her grandson at Mansfield.

Mrs. James Speakman and son in law, Mr. Dick Parker, went to Fort Jackson, South Carolina to bring home Pvt. Frank Speakman. They also brought tow soldiers to Columbus.

Pvt. Frank Speakman of Ft. Jackson, South Carolina, is spending a 20 day furlough with his mother before returning to California. He has been stationed at Ft. Jackson South Carolina for the past five months.

Mrs. Charley Adams, Nancy and Allen; Mrs. Dick Parker Teresa, Dixie; Mr. and Mrs. Al Speakman, Jim, Kim, Stoney and Rosella Skagg of Kingston and Mrs. Elsie Allen and Rhoda Gilpen of Columbus visited at the Speakman home during the week.

Mrs. James Speakman and Pvt. Frank Speakman were supper guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Luther Gilpen and Esther Wednesday evening.

Pvt. Frank Speakman and his grandfather Mr. Luther Gilpen attended the stock sales in Circleville Wednesday.

Rogers Morton Gets Cool Reception At Lima Meet

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The chief salesman for the "new Republicanism" got a polite but cool reception here Thursday night when he urged the GOP to chart a new course.

Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, R-Md., the new GOP national chairman, told some 600 persons from 11 conservative Republican counties the Republican party must change within.

"The Republican party of the 70s must be a concerned party," he said. "It must not care just about elections, it must care about people."

There were no interruptions of applause as Morton outlined his views at the $100-a-plate dinner. He was applauded lightly when he finished.

"It wasn't a bad speech but it wasn't the kind we are used to hearing up here," remarked one of the guests. "It didn't charge me," said another.

"Change must come in cities like Lima as well as in America," Morton said. He said too many regard Republicans as uncaring and "deaf to the voices of certain elements of society."

"Our new Republicanism will change this image," he said. "We will be the catalyst that will bring the great forces of our nation together to solve our problems."

At a news conference later, Morton said the era of social consciousness already is here. "It's already sold," he said. "I think it is just a matter of directing it."

Rep. William McCulloch, R-Ohio, said he was happy with the thrust Morton has provided in his past 50 days as chairman. McCulloch introduced Morton.

Morton said Republicans can not turn back the clock to the days when a man "could build something, decide something and then stand back and admire it."

"We have moved more and more to what the social scientist call the beehive model, in which all are specialists working toward a common goal," he said.

Excessive federal government regulation takes away individual responsibility," he added. "We must completely redesign our society to make it more responsive to the individual."

Functions taken from state and local governments must be returned "but not under old rules and old procedures," Morton said.

"To make local action work, we must overhaul the local machinery," he said. Local officials must be strengthened through alliances with the private sector, he added.

Morton replaced Ohio's Ray C. Bliss as the national chairman. Bliss, former Ohio GOP chairman, has long been popular in this northwestern Ohio area.

Rock Band Youth Loses Hair Again

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — John Sinclair lost his hair to the law again.

Sinclair, member of an Ann Arbor rock band, hadn't had a haircut since he was freed in 1966 from the Detroit House of Correction where he served a term on a marijuana conviction. It was in long corkscrew curls.

Now Sinclair is shorn clean. The hair was whacked off Tuesday as he began serving a 30-day sentence in Oakland County jail for assaulting a police officer. He was released on a $2,500 appeal bond after six hours, but by then it was too late.

"They even did it before fingerprinting and photographing," said Sinclair, minister of information for the pro-black militant White Panthers.

Undersheriff Leo Hazen said Sinclair got the same treatment given every prisoner.

"It's like cutting someone's arm off," Sinclair said. "It makes me look like a pig."

Boys' State Parties Work At Athens

ATHENS, Ohio (AP) — The two newest political parties in Ohio were hammering out their slate of candidates for state, county and local government today as the 32nd American Legion Buckeye Boys' State moved into its second day.

Citizens of the mythical state's six counties and 24 cities caucused early to select delegates and alternates to the Federalist and Nationalist party conventions which were gavelled to order at mid-morning.

The 1,370 high school seniors who checked into their rooms at Ohio University Thursday to participate in the 10-day democracy-in-action program were divided into two political parties Thursday night.

While the political activity was gaining momentum, the youthful participants also recruited a band and set up and staffed a one-page daily newspaper.

Richard Humphrey of Poland was named editor in chief of the Hetuck — Indian for Buckeye. Curtis Peoples of Cincinnati was named news editor and David Dubs of Canton, business manager, of the news sheet which will be published daily in The Athens Messenger.

Ohio Lt. Gen. John W. Brown was to address the Boys' State tonight.

On Saturday, political campaigning is expected to reach a fever pitch with a massive rally in the evening.

Polls will open Sunday morning as the youngsters chose those who will head the executive, judicial and legislative branches of the Boys' State government.

and son Elwood spent the weekend with his sister and brother-in-law near Pittsburgh, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Danny Shaw (Lila Woodward) have named their daughter born May 28, Stacie Lynn.

Mrs. Joan Glick was guest of honor when Miss Margaret Chilcote entertained members of the Les Amies Sunday School class and guests at her home on Monday evening.

At 6:30 a buffet supper was served. Later the president, Goldie Byers presided during the business session.

Devotions were read by Mrs. Robert Bowers. During the social hour the hostess provided coat hangers and colored yarn and the members showed their artistic ability in decorating the hangers. These were presented to Mrs. Glick. The class also presented her with a lovely white sweater and the hostess gave her a pink carnation corsage.

Mrs. Glick with her husband, the Rev. John Glick and their children Beth, Janice, John and David will be moving to Ashville where Rev. Glick will be minister of the Methodist and Hedges Chapel churches.

Those who were present at the party included: Mrs. Orville Kempton, Miss Byers, Mrs. Howard Egan, Mrs. Bowers, Mrs. Don Kempton, Mrs. Hugh Poling, Mrs. Melvin Mettler, Mrs. Merwin McClelland, Mrs. Thomas Rose, Mrs. Ramon Maxson, Mrs. W. K. Dumm, Mrs. Robert DeLong, and guests, Mrs. J. L. Chilcote and Celesta Hoy.

Mrs. Chilcote and Mrs. Egan assisted the hostess with the serving.

Last Sunday guests of Mrs. Hazel McNeal were Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Boecher, Jan and his mother Mrs. Ruth Boecher of Columbus, Mr. and Mrs. James Adkins of near Chillicothe and Mr. and Mrs. William McNeal and daughter Diana of Kingston.

Mrs. John Leonard Reynolds and son of the state of Minnesota were Friday until Monday guests of her in laws Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reynolds.

Mrs. C. F. Bradney was Monday until Wednesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Moore of Columbus. She also attended the funeral of her grandson at Mansfield.

Mrs. James Speakman and son in law, Mr. Dick Parker, went to Fort Jackson, South Carolina to bring home Pvt. Frank Speakman. They also brought two soldiers to Columbus.

Pvt. Frank Speakman of Ft. Jackson, South Carolina, is spending a 20 day furlough with his mother before returning to California. He has been stationed at Ft. Jackson South Carolina for the past five months.

Mrs. Charley Adams, Nancy and Allen; Mrs. Dick Parker Teresa, Dixie; Mr. and Mrs. Al Speakman, Jim, Kim, Stoney and Rosella Skagg of Kingston and Mrs. Elsie Allen and Rhoda Gilpen of Columbus visited at the Speakman home during the week.

Mrs. James Speakman and Pvt. Frank Speakman were supper guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. Luther Gilpen and Esther Wednesday evening.

Pvt. Frank Speakman and his grandfather Mr. Luther Gilpen attended the stock sales in Circleville Wednesday.

Rogers Morton Gets Cool Reception At Lima Meet

LIMA, Ohio (AP)—The chief salesman for the "new Republicanism" got a polite but cool reception here Thursday night when he urged the GOP to chart a new course.

Rep. Rogers C. B. Morton, R-Md., the new GOP national chairman, told some 600 persons from 11 conservative Republican counties the Republican party must change within.

"The Republican party of the 70s must be a concerned party," he said. "It must not care just about elections, it must care about people."

There were no interruptions of applause as Morton outlined his views at the $100-a-plate dinner. He was applauded lightly when he finished.

"It wasn't a bad speech but it wasn't the kind we are used to hearing up here," remarked one of the guests. "It didn't charge me," said another.

"Change must come in cities like Lima as well as in America," Morton said. He said too many regard Republicans as uncaring and "deaf to the voices of certain elements of society."

"Our new Republicanism will change this image," he said. "We will be the catalyst that will bring the great forces of our nation together to solve our problems."

At a news conference later, Morton said the era of social consciousness already is here. "It's already sold," he said. "I think it is just a matter of directing it."

Rep. William McCulloch, R-Ohio, said he was happy with the thrust Morton has provided in his past 50 days as chairman. McCulloch introduced Morton.

Morton said Republicans can not turn back the clock to the days when a man "could build something, decide something and then stand back and admire it."

"We have moved more and more to what the social scientist call the beehive model, in which all are specialists working toward a common goal," he said.

Excessive federal government regulation takes away individual responsibility," he added. "We must completely redesign our society to make it more responsive to the individual."

Functions taken from state and local governments must be returned "but not under old rules and old procedures," Morton said.

"To make local action work, we must overhaul the local machinery," he said. Local officials must be strengthened through alliances with the private sector, he added.

Morton replaced Ohio's Ray C. Bliss as the national chairman. Bliss, former Ohio GOP chairman, has long been popular in this northwestern Ohio area.

Navy Needs Data Systems Specialists

The U.S. Navy needs about 115 more first class data systems specialists and about 80 data processing technicians from civilian sources, and they will go directly into first class slots. To be eligible, candidates must meet the basic enlistment qualifications, be a U.S. citizen between 24 and 40 years of age.

For data systems first class A, minimum of 24 months experience in maintaining a preventive and corrective digital stored program computer, and at least one of these related devices: magnetic tape unit, disc file, high speed printer, card and tape readers and card and tape punches. In addition normal color perception is required.

For data processing, first Class A minimum of 24 months program or systems analysis experience with any general purpose digital computer system.

If additional information is desired, contact the navy recruiter in the Circleville post office, Thursdays 10 a.m. to 1 p.m.

PICCA Slates Tag Day Sale

The Circleville Area Community Council, sponsored by PICCA (Pickaway County Community Action) will sponsor a Tag Day sale in the Downtown area Saturday.

Proceeds will go towards helping repair the AME Church basement, 424 S. Pickaway St., which will be used for a Child Day Care Center and other community activities.

Members of the Community Council and Red Cross Volunteers will work at the Tag Day Sale.

Mike Flynn, PICCA executive director, commended the Community Council for their efforts.

"The Council is only a few months old and they have already taken many positive steps," he added.

John D. Herbert Starts Campaign For — Something

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State Treasurer John D. Herbert appears to have begun a campaign for the 1970 Republican gubernatorial nomination.

While Herbert was addressing an Elks convention in Toledo Thursday, ballpoint pens bearing the message, "John D. Herbert—the right man for the right job in 1970," were distributed to delegates.

Herbert disclaimed any knowledge of the pens at a news conference there and said he wasn't sure what his role would be in the election.

But those pens showed up again later Thursday at a Republican fund-raising dinner in Lima.

This time the man passing them out was recognized as an aide to Herbert.

Melbourne after the carrier changed course.

Capt. J. P. Stevenson said that if the Evans had stayed on a steady course, the Melbourne might have only brushed her.

Instead the Evans was sliced in two and 74 of her crewmen were lost.

Stevenson, 47, told the joint U.S.-Australian board investigating the disaster he was watching the Evans, from his bridge before dawn on June 3 and saw her come to a collision course.

"I swore at him," Stevenson said, then dispatched a warning to the Evans that they were on a collision course.

The captain said he observed no change in the Evans' course as it neared to about 2,500 yards. "Things happened very quickly."

He said the ships continued on the crash course and the chances of a safe passing seemed "very faint. No chance in the world."

He said the destroyer's lights were not on, and "the only chance" was the carrier to swing one way or the other.

Stevenson said he decided to turn left, to port, and ordered 30 degrees left rudder, which he considered as good as full rudder. He said he sounded two short blasts—the signal for a port turn—and sent a message to the Evans he was turning hard left.

Stevenson said he took his binoculars off the Evans for the first time then received a signal that the Evans was turning right.

"If Evans had stayed on a steady course my aerials might have clipped her," he testified. But he said the Evans spun very quickly right and his ship rammed the destroyer.

Immediately after the impact, the Melbourne's engines were reversed and put full astern, the captain said.

He said the Evans had been cut in two, he could not see the bow and the aft section swung down his starboard side. The Melbourne, which had been running blacked out, turned its lights to "full brilliance" just before the collision, he said.

Earlier in his testimony, Stevenson said he had cautioned the destroyer commanders before the fleet sailed from Manila into the South China Sea "to keep well clear of the carrier" when maneuvering around his ship.

Fulbright Not Satisfied Viet Secret Talks Taking Place

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—Sen. J. W. Fulbright says he's taking the administration's word that secret Vietnam peace talks are being held, and he wants President Nixon to give the American people details on them.

Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, answered "yes" at a news conference Thursday when asked if he thought that Nixon should reveal who is negotiating, what has been proposed and what, if anything, has been agreed upon.

The first five months of the

Ohio Workers Hold Protest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State highway workers belonging to the Joint Organizing Council of Operating Engineers and Labor Unions planned a demonstration at the Statehouse today.

No reason was given for the demonstration, but it apparently was to protest the highway department's refusal to check off union dues.

Al Gross, spokesman for the council, said he would explain the purpose of the demonstration at a news conference this morning.

Highway Director P. E. Masheter said Thursday his department will not collect dues for the union because it already has an agreement with the Ohio Civil Service Association to represent the employees.

He estimated that 2,000 of the department's 10,000 employees are sympathetic to the council, which he called "an amalgamation for the purpose of organizing highway workers."

Snuff Boxes Pilfered

DURBAN, South Africa (AP)—Antique snuff boxes worth more than Rands 40,000 ($56,000) disappeared when a thief broke into Mrs. L. Whitman's suburban Pinetown home. Some of the 68 snuff boxes in the collection were more than 500 years old.

Nixon administration have produced no visible evidence of significant progress toward settlement of the Vietnam war, the senator said.

"You will recall that during the presidential campaign he said he had a formula for ending the war," Fulbright said. "He said he had a way. Well, I think it's time he told the people what that way is."

Fulbright said he doesn't actually know whether secret peace talks are being held.

"I'm taking their word for it," Fulbright said. "They have been courteous to me. The President has shown all the cordiality I could expect. But he hasn't followed my advice."

Fulbright said that when the secret talks are mentioned the administration says the situation is delicate, could be unbalanced by public scrutiny and then declines to divulge details.

Fulbright said that as he reads the situation Nixon "is only pursuing the policies he inherited from the Johnson administration."

He said it is imperative that Nixon say whether he will back South Vietnam's President Nguyen Van Thieu's government "all the way" or is determined to let the South Vietnamese have free elections to choose Thieu or someone else to govern them.

Asked if Nixon's plan to bring 25,000 U.S. troops home from Vietnam by August satisfied him, Fulbright said it was a step in the right direction, but not a big enough step.

OSU Board Of Trustees Establishes New Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A change in faculty rules which establishes a Committee on Academic Freedom and Responsibility was approved Thursday by Ohio State University's board of trustees.

The change in the committee's responsibilities will include studying conditions affecting academic freedom or responsibility of the faculty; investigating allegations of infringements upon academic freedom or responsibility, and

Abortion Bill Turned Down Despite Speech

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—A woman legislator who disclosed that she once had a therapeutic abortion pleaded for state Senate passage of a bill easing Michigan's abortion laws.

But the tearful speech Thursday by Mrs. N. Lorraine Beebe, the chamber's only woman member, was in vain. The bill was defeated 17 to 16. Twenty votes were needed for passage.

"You cannot impose your will," Mrs. Beebe urged her male colleagues. "The woman must make the decision and she must live with it."

The bill would have legalized abortion of pregnancies resulting from rape or incest, or which endangered the mother's health, or which seemed likely to result in the birth of a helplessly deformed child.

Fulbright Not Satisfied Viet Secret Talks Taking Place

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says he's taking the administration's word that secret Vietnam peace talks are being held, and he wants President Nixon to give the American people details on them.

Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat who heads the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, answered "yes" at a news conference Thursday when asked if he thought that Nixon should reveal who is negotiating, what has been proposed and what, if anything, has been agreed upon.

Ohio Workers Hold Protest

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State highway workers belonging to the Joint Organizing Council of Operating Engineers and Labor Unions planned a demonstration at the Statehouse today.

No reason was given for the demonstration, but it apparently was to protest the highway department's refusal to check off union dues.

Al Gross, spokesman for the council, said he would explain the purpose of the demonstration at a news conference this morning.

Highway Director P. E. Masheter said Thursday his department will not collect dues for the union because it already has an agreement with the Ohio Civil Service Association to represent the employees.

He estimated that 2,000 of the department's 10,000 employees are sympathetic to the council, which he called "an amalgamation for the purpose of organizing highway workers."

Snuff Boxes Pilfered

DURBAN, South Africa (AP) — Antique snuff boxes worth more than Rands 40,000 ($56,000) disappeared when a thief broke into Mrs. L. Whitman's suburban Pinetown home. Some of the 68 snuff boxes in the collection were more than 500 years old.

He said the Evans had been cut in two, he could not see the bow and the aft section swung down his starboard side. The Melbourne, which had been running blacked out, turn its lights to "full brilliance" just before the collision, he said.

Earlier in his testimony, Stevenson said he had cautioned the destroyer commanders before the fleet sailed from Manila into the South China Sea "to keep well clear of the carrier" when maneuvering around his ship.

OSU Board Of Trustees Establishes New Committee

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A change in faculty rules which establishes a Committee on Academic Freedom and Responsibility was approved Thursday by Ohio State University's board of trustees.

The change in the committee's responsibilities will include studying conditions affecting academic freedom or responsibility of the faculty; investigating allegations of infringements upon academic freedom or responsibility, and issuing findings and recommendations.

Another change in rules allows the president of the undergraduate student body to appoint a student to the library council.

In other actions the trustees: — Approved expenditure budgets for 1969-70 totaling about $15 million higher than estimated expenditures for the current year. President Novice G. Fawcett said the increase "will be used almost in its entirety to sustain the current level of effort of the university." He termed the expenditure plan a "minimum budget to support continued operation of existing programs. . . ."

— Approved a recommendation for contract awards totaling $3.2 million for construction of a School of Allied Medical professions building. Construction of the five-story structure is scheduled to begin this month.

— Raised the quarterly premium for its voluntary student group insurance program and increased the program's benefits. The premium goes from $8 to $12.

— Approved appointment of Dr. Colin B. Bull as chairman of the Department of Geology. — Reported receipt of a $365,700 National Science Foundation grant to continue development of its research center in Computer and Information Science.

Abortion Bill Turned Down Despite Speech

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A woman legislator who disclosed that she once had a therapeutic abortion pleaded for state Senate passage of a bill easing Michigan's abortion laws.

But the tearful speech Thursday by Mrs. N. Lorraine Beebe, the chamber's only woman member, was in vain. The bill was defeated 17 to 16. Twenty votes were needed for passage.

"You cannot impose your will," Mrs. Beebe urged her male colleagues. "The woman must make the decision and she must live with it."

The bill would have legalized abortion of pregnancies resulting from rape or incest, or which endangered the mother's health, or which seemed likely to result in the birth of a helplessly deformed child.

'Popcorn Diesels' Cut Smoke Output

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The smell of fresh popcorn may blanket the land as trucks and buses bustle about their business.

David Hurst, a researcher at Georgia Tech's engineer experiment station, says a catalytic converter developed at the station cuts smoke production from diesel engines by up to one-third while emitting the smell of freshly popped popcorn.

PCA Training Seminar Held

W. C. Vance, representing the Local Production Credit Association, was part of a group of 86 Production Credit Association employees who attended a men's training seminar held June 9 and 10 at Columbus.

The training session was the second in two years conducted for the men by Tom Lawrence of Lawrence-Leiter Company, Kansas City, Mo. The seminar last year covered the areas of sales and communications, while this year's session was devoted to "Managing for Growth." Lawrence has for many years been engaged in assignments with some of the largest business concerns in the United States.

"This type training by nationally known consultants helps to keep Production Credit employees updated on the latest business trends and developments," according to Lloyd C. Wetzel, General Manager of the Columbus Production Credit Association at Columbus.

The Circleville Production Credit Association has over Six Million Dollars outstanding to 288 farmers in Pickaway County.

Humphrey Sees Brighter Viet Peace Outlook

NEW YORK (AP) — Hubert H. Humphrey said Thursday creation of the Viet Cong's new provisional revolutionary government and the broadening of the Saigon government's base have brightened peace prospects in Vietnam.

"Just yesterday," he said in a commencement address prepared for Bernard Baruch College, "we read of the so-called provisional regime which has been organized by the NLF." National Liberation Front, the Viet Cong political arm.

"There is similar evidence that the South Vietnamese are broadening the base of their government—preparing for the day when the struggle on the battlefield will be moved into the political arena," he added.

"These are significant and, in my opinion, extremely hopeful signs—signs which should tell us that the chances of reaching a negotiated political settlement in Paris are brighter now than they have been for a long time."

Probe Christianity's Problems

NEW YORK (AP) — The idea originated in a conversation on a golf course at Rock Hill, N.C., between the Rt. Rev. John E. Hines, presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church, and a young seminarian, Calhoun W. Wick.

Today, as a result of their discussion about problems looming on the horizons for Christianity in this country, Wick was off on an unusual world trip, hunting answers from those who have had to find them to survive.

"If my hunch is right, the power of their experience is going to prove so great that the American church will have no choice but to listen," said Wick, of Cleveland, Ohio. "And listening can lead us to try a new thing."

On the grounds that American churches are facing some tough conditions ahead, he said, a main objective is to seek guidance on how to cope with those difficulties from foreign churches already existing under them.

"They have already found ways for dealing with problems that we're just beginning to face," he said. "They have a tremendous amount to give us."

Wick, 25, who next year completes his training for the priesthood at Virginia Episcopal Theological Seminary, in Alexandria, is to spend 80 days, until mid-August, on his fact-finding tour in Europe, Africa, India and the Far East.

"It's a different kind of approach," he said. Instead of the big establishment church telling the mission churches how to do their work, he said, "we want to learn from them."

Similarly on an experimental basis, some American denominations, such as the United Presbyterian Church and the United Methodist Church, have brought some missionaries to the United States from traditional mission areas.

Wick's trip is being jointly sponsored by the Ohio Episcopal diocese, the presiding bishop, and the Church's overseas department.

Among premises for his inquiries about the modes of operations in mission areas is the conclusion that American churches soon must learn to cope with some specific, trying conditions, including: a minority status for Christianity as secular ideologies gain a spreading allegiance; a yearning among many people for more effective spiritual disciplines in a heavily technological environment, and a vastly swollen population.

To seek guidance on how to get along under the troublesome conditions foreseen, Wick plans to direct his inquiries to church leaders in areas that have long experienced the particular problems.

For example, in Iran, where Christianity is a tiny minority, he'll ask about ways of continuing in those circumstances; in India, with its overpopulation, Scripture—II Kings 22:3-23:25; I Timothy 4:11-16; Ephesians 3:7-10; Colossians 3:16.

By R. H. RAMSEY

WHAT we are most interested from II Kings for this lesson is the discovery of the Book of Law, found by Hilkiah, the priest, and given to Shaphan, the scribe, who took it to King Josiah. The Book of the Law was a collection of statutes and ordinances of Moses (which has been worked up in the Pentateuch, and especially in Deuteronomy). It was in existence at the time of Jehoshaphat and was probably preserved in the Ark. After a century of disuse it was found again and appeared as something new, for it had been put aside in the reign of Manasseh and wholly forgotten.

In his heart, Josiah was already seeking to walk in the ways of God, but when the commandments of God were read to him he was overwhelmed by a sense of guilt for himself and his entire nation for their long-continued crimes and disobedience. So strong was his conviction that he gathered the elders of Judah and Jerusalem and read the Book of Law to them.

in his speech, behavior, love for others, service, faith and moral purity. Paul hoped to visit Timothy in Ephesus within a short time and in the meantime, Timothy was to apply himself to his reading, teaching and exhortation of others to follow the teachings of Christ. Whatever Timothy's gift or talent was, Paul urged him to make full use of it.

It is noteworthy that Paul urged the young evangelist to meditate upon the thing which Paul wrote. Meditation is a mind exercise in which one mentally considers truth and facts so as to derive new insights and conclusions from them. The Apostle did not want Timothy to just "get by" in his work. He wanted him to be wholehearted in his service to Christ.

Although not one of the original apostles, Paul was made a servant to spread the gospel message. In his letter to the Ephesians, Paul talks about that and about the drastic change in his life. He credited it to the

All were in agreement that the people should have the Book of Law read to them so they could see how far they had gone in disobeying God's commandments. Accordingly, the people were called together and the Book of the Law read to them. Defiance Firm In Merger Bid

NEW YORK (AP) —Directors of Defiance Industries Inc., Defiance, Ohio, and El-Tronics Inc. of Warren Pa., have agreed on a merger valued at about $25 million, with El-Tronics the surviving company.

The agreement subject to shareholders approval, indicates El-Tronics would drop previous plans to gain control of Defiance through a tender offer exchanging three - fourths a share.

The merger agreement was seen as the end of a feud between Defiance's management and dissident stockholders.

grace of God and regarded his new vocation as a gift of that grace. Because he had once opposed Christ and had harassed and persecuted Christians, he considered himself the least and most unworthy of his fellow workers. Through God's grace, however, he discovered he had been forgiven and the work of preaching the gospel of grace and mercy to the Gentiles became a burning passion.

The good news was for all men and its purpose was to enable the entire world to share in the mystery which had been revealed by Jesus Christ. Sinful men could be brought into salvation; Jew and Gentile could be brought into fellowship.

The word of Christ — the whole of Christian teaching — should dwell in God's children. This, accompanied by insight into the divine requirements, must be shared with others by teaching and admonishing, strengthening and encouraging one another with psalms, hymns and spiritual songs of Zion.

The agreement subject to shareholders approval, indicates El-Tronics would drop previous plans to gain control of Defiance through a tender offer exchanging three-fourths a share.

The merger agreement was seen as the end of a feud between Defiance's management and dissident stockholders.

Murphy Holds U.S. Open Lead

NICKLAUS BLASTS — Jack Nicklaus claims he's "hitting lousy irons." A 74 yesterday in the first round of the U.S. Open proved his point, and left him eight strokes off the pace set by Bob Murphy. Big Jack, noted for being about 10 strokes less than he was yesterday, took 32 putts.

Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — Roly-poly Bob Murphy held the lead going into today's second round of the U.S. Open Golf Championship because there's a big blond mystery man walking around in Jack Nicklaus' spikes.

"I was driving the ball exceptionally well," Nicklaus said. "I didn't miss a fairway—something I've never done before in the U.S. Open. From where I drove the ball, Jack Nicklaus could have shot a 65. But I haven't seen that character around for a while."

The slump-ridden Nicklaus, who said "my irons deserted me," finished with a 74, four over par for the 6,967-yard Cypress Creek layout at Champions Golf Club.

That put him in a tie with a couple of pretourney choices, defending champion Lee Trevino and Billy Casper, well back in the pack and in some danger of missing the cut when the field of 150 is trimmed today to the low 60 finishers and ties for the final two rounds.

And since Nicklaus himself

Three Local Horses Win At Scioto

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Harnes racing's 1968 triple crown winner, Rum Customer, put on one of his patented come-from-behind finishes to win the $12,000 challenge stakes for 4-year-olds pacers Thursday night at Scioto Downs.

Rum Customer, going to the post as the 1-9 favorite, paid $2.20 across the board. Beau Butler finished second by half-a-length to pay $3.60 and $2.20 while Ozzie Hanover came home third for $2.20.

Rum Customer negotiated the mile in 2:03.5 on a wet track for his fifth victory of the year. Three local horses — Canetta, One and Only and Beau Regard — won consecutive races last night at Scioto Downs on a good track, although the weather was rainy.

Canetta, owned by Robert O. Callahan, and driven by R. Edwards, won the fourth race with a 2:10.3 time. The brown three-year-old mare paid $14.20, $6 and $5.

Harry Margulis' One and Only topped the field in the fifth race, paying $7.60, $3.80 and $3.80. Driven by Don Irvine, the Ashville-based horse ran 2:09.2.

In the sixth race, Beau Regard ran a 2:10.1 mile to win $4.60, $3.60 and $3 for owner Joseph King of Greenville. The horse was driven by Jim Mace.

Attendance was 4,727 and they handled $201,921.

The 5-2 daily double combination of Stephen Bloom and Dudley Direct paid $13.40.

Phils, Reds Win Games On Light Major League Slate

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
After nine straight defeats, the Philadelphia Phillies needed something...and it turned out to be nothing.

That's exactly what Philly pitchers have given the Los Angeles Dodgers the last two nights—nothing. The results have been a modest, but welcome two-game winning streak.

Rookie Billy Champion broke the losing string Wednesday night with a five-hit shutout and Grant Jackson made it two in a row Thursday night by scattering seven hits as the Phillies nipped the Dodgers and hard-luck Bill Singer 1-0.

Philadelphia pitchers had only three shutouts—one by Jackson—all year entering this series, but they came to the right place. The Dodgers now have been blanked nine times and Singer has had only five runs scored for him in his six defeats.

It was the only shutout of the night on a limited schedule as Montreal beat San Diego 4-1. Cincinnati downed St. Louis 4-3 in 10 innings. Pittsburgh slipped by Houston 4-3 and the Chicago Cubs outlasted Atlanta 12-6 in the National League. Washington defeated Oakland 4-1 in the only American League game.

Jackson, 3-6, who has allowed only four runs in his five complete-game victories, averaged a 7-6 loss to Sinner two weeks ago.

While the Dodgers were being whitewashed for the second night in a row, one of their former big hitters was helping Montreal win its third game in four starts after a 20-game losing spin. Ron Fairly, acquired Wednesday from the Dodgers for Maury Wills, singled in the tie-breaking run in the ninth inning.

Gary Sutherland opened the ninth with a double off loser Tommie Sisk, 0-4, and Fairly, pinch hitting in his first appearance for the Expos, laced a pitch by reliever Billy McCool for a 2-1 lead. Mack Jones tripled another run home and scored on a ground out.

Rusty Staub's seventh inning homer for Montreal had broken a scoreless duel between San Diego's Joe Niekro, who gave only one other hit in seven innings, and Jerry Robertson, who had broken the 20-game spin last Sunday.

Robertson had a four-hitter entering the eighth, but Bobby Wine's error led the way to Ed Spiezio's tying two-out single.

Lee May, who hit his 16th homer earlier, slammed a game-winning single with the bases loaded and one out in the 10th inning for Cincinnati.

Pete Rose started the rally with the 13th hit off Nelson Briles, 4-5, and Jim Stewart reached base when catcher Tim McCarver failed to come up with his sacrifice bunt for an error. After a sacrifice, Tony Perez was walked intentionally and May followed with his hit.

Pinch-hitter Carl Taylor rapped a two-out, tie-breaking single for Pittsburgh in the ninth inning after reliever Fred Glading hit Manny Sanguillen with a pitch and Sanguillen reached third on a sacrifice and ground out.

Roberto Clemente had tied the game for Pittsburgh with a two-run homer in the sixth inning. Jim Bunning, 6-4, scattered nine hits for the victory.

Al Spangler hit his third and fourth homers, each with a man on, and Ernie Banks doubled in his 51st and 52nd runs as the Cubs built a 7-0 lead behind Dick Selma's one-hit pitching for seven innings.

Hank Aaron ruined Selma, 6-3, with a three-run homer, his 17th, in the eighth, but Ron Santo highlighted a five-run Chicago ninth with a two-run homer.

Jim Shellenback, after eight relief appearances since being acquired on waivers from Pittsburgh May 14, started his first game and spaced seven hits for the Senators and Del Unser Washington for his first victory. drove in two runs with two singles. Hank Allen hit his first homer.

Bill Russell May Quit Basketball

BOSTON (AP) — Bill Russell is quitting basketball in favor of a Hollywood career according to a Boston paper, but his old mentor Red Auerbach says as far as he knows there's been no definite decision yet.

Russell, one of pro basketball's all-time greats, was reported resigning his job as player-coach of the National Basketball Association champion Boston Celtics.

The copyrighted story was written by Sports Editor Cliff Sundberg for this morning's editions of the Boston Herald Traveler.

The story said the 6-foot-9 center, who has sparked the Celtics to 11 NBA championships in 13 years, was giving up his estimated $150,000-a-year post to pursue movie and television work plus other ventures on the West Coast.

The paper said the 35-year-old Russell informed Auerbach of his decision Monday night and then confided to friends Wednesday that he had to make the move "in order to find new sources of income for the future."

It said Russell is currently in Hollywood and staying at the apartment of former Cleveland Browns fullback Jimmy Brown, another great athlete who made the jump to a film and television career.

Murphy, 26, a former amateur champion and 1968 PGA Rookie of the Year, credited hard work with the driver and adjustment to his new daughter, Kimberly, for the improvement in his game.

"I'm usually a pretty good driver," he said. "Not long, but straight. But in the last five or six weeks I hadn't been driving well at all. I guess I hadn't been driving since the National Airlines (in March)."

"But sometimes some hard work pays off. I must have hit 1,000 drives in practice the last few weeks. That's all you can do, just go out and swing."

And about the daughter, a six-month-old?
"I wasn't getting but about three hours sleep at night. Now I'm getting used to it."

Murphy missed only two fairways and two greens, picked off five birds and had a single bogey, on the fifth when he put his second shot in a trap. He chipped in from a trap for a birdie on the second hole, a shot he said "made the round for me. I could have been one over and instead I'm one under and ready to go."

Jan Stenerud of the Kansas City Chiefs scored 129 points by kicking last season. He made good on 30 of 40 field goal attempts.

500-mile stock car race at Michigan International Speedway.

"No driver is going to run away from the rest of the field and hide," the 32-year-old Dodge pilot from Catawba, N.C., said Thursday as he watched 12 more cars earn starting berths for the inaugural $95,125 event.

"That's because too many of the top cars are running practice laps at about the same speed, and others are making up for their lack of speed by drafting on the faster cars," he said.

Drafting is a technique employed by drivers of the big bore racing sedans on some of the high speed deep South ovals.

A slower car gets immediately behind a faster car and the resulting vacuum enables the second car to ride easier in the wake of the front machine.

Isaac qualified his Dodge charger in third place in the lineup, posting a two-mile lap speed of 159.165 miles per hour on Wednesday.

Isaac predicted Sunday's race, at least during the early going, will be about 155 m.p.h.

Hoss Ellington, a 34-year-old driver from Wilmington, N.C., was the fastest of a dozen more

NHL North Stars Sell Fitzpatrick

MONTREAL (AP) — The Minnesota North Stars of the National Hockey League announced Thursday they have sold forward Sandy Fitzpatrick to the San Diego Gulls of the Western Hockey League for an undisclosed amount of cash.

Fitzpatrick, 24, played last year for the Memphis South Stars of the Central Hockey League where he scored 14 goals and assisted on 16 others.

Only six National Leaguers played in more than 100 games at third base last season.

Claiborne Farm has made a $5000 investment in Saturday's Hollywood Derby, and Jay Ray figures to make it pay off with a handsome profit.

Claiborne has supplemented Jay Ray at $5,000 for the $100,000-added, 1 1/4 mile race for 3-year-olds at Hollywood Park in which the colt figures to face eight others.

Jay Ray, third in the Preakness behind Majestic Prince and Arts and Letters and the winner of the California Derby, has been assigned a highweight of 126 pounds, three more than Mrs. Howard B. Keck's Tell and six more than Forked Lightning Ranch's Noholme Jr.

Other probabilities are Jack Schwabacher's Eagle Fly, El-mendorf's Court Road, Mrs. Mort Barancik's Cherokee Strip, Poltex Stable's Lonnny's Secret, Kenneth Schiffer's Mayoworth and Keck's Makor. Each will carry 112 pounds.

There are two $50,000-added races on the national program—the 1 1/4-mile Bowling Green Handicap on the turf at Belmont Park and the Equipoise Mile at Arlington Park.

May And Helms Lead Cincy Win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Naturally, most of the accolades went Lee May's way because of his hitting performance Thursday night. But Tommy Helms garnered praise from the opposition.

Of the Cincinnati second baseman, who played top defensive ball and was the middle man on two double plays, skipper Red Schoendienst of St. Louis said:

"He's the best second baseman in either major league in making a double play. He's great."

Helms, the National League second baseman in the All-Star game last year, has been suffering from a hand injury this season. But his winning efforts in double plays in the first and fifth innings made much of the difference in the close 4-3 contest.

Mays singled off Cards starter Nelson Briles, 4-5, in the 10th inning and sent Pete Rose home with the winning run.

Rose opened the inning with a single. Jim Stewart reached first and Rose second when catcher Tim McCarver failed to get the sacrifice bunt in time. Bobby Tolan then sacrificed and Tony Perez was walked intentionally just before May came to the plate.

36th College All-Star Grid Game Readied

CHICAGO (AP) — A 52-player squad headed by Heisman Trophy winner O.J. Simpson of Southern California was named Thursday for the 36th College All-Star football game in Soldier Field Aug. 1.

The graduate collegians will oppose the pro champion New York Jets.

Simpson still is bartering with the Buffalo Bills, who got first crack at the great running back in the player draft.

As of the moment, the Jets are without their Super Bowl hero Joe Namath, who announced retirement rather than sell his interest in his New York bistro.

Without Namath, the impressive collection of All-Stars might be given a good chance to beat the pro champions for the first time in five years.

Otto Graham, returning as All-Star coach after three years at the Washington Redskins helm, handpicked the collegians to face the first American Football League team to play in the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. classic.

Marty Domres, Columbia quarterback, and halfback Calvin Hill of Yale are the only players of 28 first-round draft choices this year to be missing from the squad.

Graham picked Terry Hanratty of Notre Dame, Bob Douglass of Kansas and Greg Cook of Cincinnati as his quarterbacks.

The All-Stars, whose main hopes of upsetting the pros usually rest with a strong passing attack, will have some standout receivers. They include Jim Seymour, Hanratty's record-breaking battery mate at Notre Dame.

Gene Carfrey Wins MVP

GENE CARFREY

Gene Carfrey, senior and veteran pitcher of the Westfall baseball team, winners of the Scioto Valley Conference, was selected player of the year in the SVC by players and coaches.

Carfrey finished the year with 13 wins and one loss as a pitcher. He also led the team in batting with a .452 mark.

Other Mustangs selected to the all-league team were John Furniss, senior catcher; Tony Lightle, first baseman; Greg Bigam, shortstop; Pat Whaley, center-fielder.

Logan Elm's Danny Fausnaugh was also selected to the team.

Overall Winner Of Good Time Pace

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — Now Overall has demonstrated again why he is currently the best pacer in the country. Nevele Pride, America's best trotter, takes over the limelight at Yonkers Raceway tonight.

Nevele Pride, the Harness Horse of the Year for the last two seasons, will be hard put to exceed the sterling performance of Overall in winning the $59,500 Good Time Pace Thursday night.

$100 Purse Set At Saltcreek

A door prize of an AM-FM clock radio will be given away at a ticket drawing Friday night at Saltcreek Valley Speedway, where the feature winner will be guaranteed $100.

Time trials will start at 7 p.m. and the feature will be held at 8 p.m.

A country and western band will play before the races and during the intermission.

Byron Gileck Seeks Golf Championship

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Byron Gileck of Columbus, bidding for his second straight Ohio Seniors Golf Championship took a first-round one-stroke lead Thursday with a one-over-par 71 on the Miami Valley Country Club course.

Trailing him were John Purdum, Medina, 72; Hamilton Hodges, Columbus, 73; Ed Priesler, Cleveland, 74; John Sellner, Cincinnati, 76, and Kermit Blosser, Athens, 76.

Ohio's Fishing Conditions 'Good To Fair'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Fishing conditions remain good to fair in most sections of Ohio with continued fine catches reported in all areas. The week-end outlook is good barring heavy rains.

For Lake Erie, the Ohio Division of Wildlife reports white bass fishing good on Crib, Tossaint and other reef areas in the western part of the lake.

Western Lake Erie anglers also are taking crappie in large numbers on minnows. Bass, bluegill and walleye also are being taken.

In Central Ohio, where the best fishing is during the early morning and late evening, waters are reported clear with the level low at Buckeye Lake, at the spillway level at Indian Lake and normal elsewhere. Walleye and channel catfish are biting at Hoover Reservoir.

In extreme northwestern Ohio streams are high and turbid. Elsewhere in that section they are normal but roily. Without heavy rainfalls streams should be in good fishing condition by the weekend. The small lakes and upground reservoirs are in generally good fishing condition. The Sandusky River at Fremont the Maumee, and Portage in the vicinity of Oak Harbor, continue to produce large white bass mostly on doll flies. Clear Fork anglers are taking largemouth bass on surface lures with the best fishing in the evening.

In northeastern Ohio waters are reported clear and normal with good fishing success on bass, bluegill and catfish reported at Findlay, Mogadore, Tappan, Clendenen and Leesville Reservoirs. At the latter reservoir muskie fishing is reported good along with other species.

In Southeastern Ohio waters are clear at Seneca and Piedmont Lakes and Dillon Reservoir with fair catches reported. The Muskingum River water is returning to normal with channel catfish, some bass and a few fresh water drum taken. Southwestern Ohio's weekend outlook is fair. Lake St. Marys' water is high and roily but crappies, bullheads and channel catfish are being caught on minnows and crayfish. The water at Rocky Fork Lake is normal and roily with the outlook fair. The water is slightly roily at Grant Lake with the outlook fair, and is clear and normal at Stonelick Lake where some largemouth bass are being caught on artificial bait.

Hockey League Studies Expansion

MONTREAL (AP) — "Now its back to work to get ready for the next one."

Clarence Campbell, National Hockey League president, warily presented that summation after performing his final official chore of the league's annual four-day meetings which wound up Thursday.

But Campbell wasn't talking about next June's sessions. He was referring to a June 25 meeting in New York at which time the league governors will decide whether or not to expand by another two teams for the 1970-71 season.

May And Helms Lead Cincy Win

CINCINNATI (AP)—Naturally, most of the accolades went to Lee May's way because of his hitting performance Thursday night. But Tommy Helms garnered praise from the opposition.

Of the Cincinnati second baseman, who played top defensive ball and was the middle man on two double plays, skipper Red Schoendienst of St. Louis said:

"He's the best second baseman in either major league in making a double play. He's great."

Helms, the National League second baseman in the All-Star game last year, has been suffering from a hand injury this season. But his winning efforts in double plays in the first and fifth innings made much of the difference in the close 4-3 contest.

Mays singled off Cards starter Nelson Briles, 4-5, in the 10th inning and sent Pete Rose home with the winning run.

Rose opened the inning with a single. Jim Stewart reached first and Rose second when catcher Tim McCarver failed to get the sacrifice bunt in time. Bobby Tolan then sacrificed and Tony Perez was walked intentionally just before May came to the plate.

May lashed his 16th homer in the fourth to bring the Reds within one run of the 3-2 St. Louis lead.

The Cards opened quickly with two runs in the first inning and Brock slammed a solo shot in the fourth.

Tommy Helms tied it in the seventh when he came home from third on Briles' balk. He had singled, moved to second on a sacrifice and to third on a fly ball.

Jose Pena came to the mound for Cincinnati in the 10th inning and picked up his first major league decision. Jack Fisher had gone the first seven innings and had given up seven of the Cards' eight hits. Wayne Granger relieved him.

The Reds blasted Briles for 14 hits—but he managed to scatter them.

Cincinnati opens a four-game series here today with the Chicago Cubs.

LE Board Of Education Plans Cool Front New Junior High, Bond Issue

Members of the Logan Elm Board of Education met in regular session recently with Carolyn McCoy, president, and members Wesley Graves Jr., Roger Hobbie, Arthur Leist and Donald Bower answering roll call.

Also present for the meeting was County Superintendent George McDowell, Principal of Logan Elm High Dow West, and Superintendent John Henn acting clerk due to absence of regular clerk Thelma Trimmer.

The firm of Squire, Sanders and Dempsey was employed to act as legal counsel for handling election procedures for placing a bond issue on the November ballot.

The preliminary plans for the proposed junior high building were presented by Ralph Soumik, architect. Plans were reviewed and cost estimates for construction of building and improvement of site, loose equipment and expansion of existing high school library were discussed.

David Price, Otterbein graduate, was employed for one year as high school instrumental and vocal music instructor. Carol Sue Schults was offered employment as an elementary music teacher.

The resignation of Mrs. Esther Fouts as music teacher at Pickaway School was accepted by the board.

Additional duty assignments given and all non-teaching employees offered contracts included: bus drivers, Carl Anderson, Jane Barr, Edgar Harral, Virgil Hayslip, Raymond Hedges, Max Luckhart, James Search, Lloyd Spung, Philip Wilson, Robert Young, Tom Kyle and Pearl Stant; cooks, Jewell Hinton (district lunchroom supervisor), Esther Collins, Gladys Hedges, Helen Stant, Thelma Beavers, Mary Dumm, Harriet Smalley and Bernice Pennington; Custodians, Francis Fraunfelder, Charles Barnhart and Ralph Betz; teacher aides, Carolyn Valentine, Vera Kraft and Jo Ann Binkley; secretaries, Hazel Williams, Carol Rooney, Roseann Lowery, Pauline Farmer and Ruth Williams.

The board gave approval to send the clerk to clerk-treasurer workshop and sent four cooks to Miami University Food Service Workshop for in-service training.

The school district student accident insurance plan with Hummel and Plum was renewed for the 1969-70 school year.

After discussion and study of cost estimates for roof repairs of the high school it was decided to table for further study. Superintendent was instructed to obtain bids from a local firm if possible.

A study of the recommendations of H. C. Wear and Associates concerning conversion of coal furnaces to fuel oil at Saltcreek and Pickaway Schools was accepted and authorization given to proceed with heating equipment change-over.

In other matters discussed the board agreed to purchase a new electric hot water heater and student desks for Washington School.

The next regular board meeting is scheduled for 8 a.m. July 7 in the office of the clerk at Logan Elm High School.

Don't Neglect Used Furniture Stores

CHICAGO (AP) — Second-hand store shopping for furniture when decorating a new home or redesigning an old one can be fun, says a California interior decorator.

Carole Elchen of Fullerton, Calif., advised here it's a good place to look for old wooden ice-boxes, weathered wicker chairs, wind-up victrolas, even old church pews.

All can be brought back to life with a coat or two of paint or polish, she says. Mixed with modern furniture, such items add seasoned charm and interesting accents to a home.

concessions—and to agree to other points in the U.S. plan. These points reportedly satisfy Israel's demand for peace and security under terms of the November 1967 U.N. resolution that is being used as a basis for a settlement.

Egyptian sources said Gromyko conferred at least twice Thursday with Moscow by telephone. The sources took this to mean his talks with the Egyptians had reached a critical stage requiring referral to the Kremlin.

Israeli political circles in Tel Aviv said their government might be prepared to accept a peace package if it included direct Arab-Israeli negotiations.

Israeli Premier Golda Meir underlined Israel's desire for face-to-face negotiations when she said in London Thursday that the Big Four should abandon their efforts and let Arabs and Israelis work out their own agreement.

Mrs. Meir insisted the big power talks were a facade behind which the Arabs avoid the reality of having to deal directly with Israel.

Mayor Found Not Exempt From Law

CHESTERFIELD, England (AP) — Mayor Evelyn Reese thought the yellow no-parking lines painted on the street outside the town hall weren't meant for her so she parked there twice to go shopping and have a hair-do. She got two tickets.

Mrs. Reese didn't understand the regulations, her attorney explained to a magistrate, but the mayor was fined 4 pounds ($9.60) anyway.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Viet Cong's establishment of a "provisional revolutionary government" for South Vietnam has observers differing widely on how the development will affect prospects for a negotiated peace.

Some experts now look for serious bargaining by the enemy resulting in progress at Paris. Others figure the Hanoi-Viet Cong team is digging in for a long, hard stand, dimming chances for any forward movement soon in the negotiations.

Officially, the U.S. position is that nothing has changed in the Viet Cong lineup except a name. The allies thus raised no objection Thursday to the new "government" succeeding the National Liberation Front at North Vietnam's side in the Paris talks.

Washington analysts generally agree that:

—The new group is run by the same people as its predecessor, holds the same goals and is bound by the same links to Hanoi.

—A practical aim by the enemy in announcing creation of the government now is to strengthen its bargaining position at Paris.

—More time is needed to determine whether the enemy intends to move next into a more flexible negotiating stance or will stick to a rigid posture.

These conclusions fall short of explaining why the enemy picked this time to claim formation of a government representing all of South Vietnam. Previously the Viet Cong had claimed its political arm, the National Liberation Front was a party authentically representing the South Vietnamese people, but did not call itself a government.

An optimistic interpretation of the enemy move came from former vice president Hubert H. Humphrey, who says evidence that both the Saigon regime and the Viet Cong were broadening their political bases.

"These are significant and in my opinion extremely hopeful signs—which should tell us that the chances of reaching a negotiated political settlement in Paris are brighter now than they have been for a long time," Humphrey said.

Some others speculated that the Viet Cong were attempting to raise themselves to a par with the Saigon government in a legal sense so they could better tradeoff with the South Vietnamese in bargaining for a coalition government.

Six young people were missing off lower Michigan's eastern shore after winds up to 65 miles an hour, and heavy rains, hit the Saginaw Bay area of Lake Huron. The group went out in a 13-foot boat Thursday afternoon, apparently to water ski.

Wind, hail and drenching rains were widespread along the storm belt.

Temperatures skidded 20 to 25 degrees in an hour in some areas as the cool front passed.

Nearly 4 inches of rain soaked the Talpa, Tex., area, 40 miles south of Abilene. Almost 2½ inches poured into Nashville, Ill., about 50 miles southeast of St. Louis.

Small hailstones piled to a depth of 2 to 3 inches during a thunderstorm at Ardmore, Okla., late Thursday. Hailstones the size of golfballs smashed out windows in the downtown section of Winters, Tex., 45 miles northeast of Abilene.

A tornado swooped into the community of Oak Creek Lake, north of San Angelo, Tex., and overturned four house trailers. No injuries were reported.

West of the storm belt, 3 inches of wet snow fell on Helena, Mont., Thursday evening. Flurries dusted scattered areas of the northern Rockies before daybreak.

The temperature fell to 42 at North Platte, Neb., before midnight, a record low for June 12 there.

Frost or freeze warnings were in effect from Montana to northern Minnesota. Lewistown, Mont., chilled down to 29 well before dawn.
